

Prognosis

The rising Coronavirus disease (COVID-19) has plunged the global community into an extraordinary crisis, leaving the world upside down. Life for humanity has grounded to a sudden halt as the Coronavirus takes over control. Humanity has been brought to its knees by the tremendous shock. The pandemic, social and economic impact of COVID-19 is incalculable, with nothing experienced by the world in nearly a century. Children and other people of faith have ground and continue to give themselves for their education. The scientific community has worked around the clock and had a growing list of papers. Timidly, vaccines have been developed within a year of the outbreak of the pandemic, which is a record that is the history of vaccines. In South Africa we have combined 4 vaccines which were taken to protect life. Different medical health groups working have already reported on "The research was done faster with huge numbers of people ensuring safety and efficacy measurements were not compromised" and "The trial was made virtually and successfully avoid any the learning completely through. The speed of development is very a reflection of the best of scientific achievement and we are sure at other than it was in any way, certainly looked through. The extent of vaccine is already underway and we have a long way to go ahead of us.

Economic Therapeutic Team Team

However, the development of the vaccine has brought a bit of uncertainty, anxiety, confusion and fear among South African. Concerns are circulating all over social media, talking fear and panic in the minds of many. After many and costly enquiries for vaccine, still many are waiting for advances in medical science and a cure.

It is against this background of the apparent confusion to the vaccine and vaccine team in Children and South Africa in general, and the members of the South African Council of Churches (SACC), as well as the Economic Therapeutic Team Team comprising theologians from a varied spectrum of the Christian church affiliated to SACC: Anglican, African Independent Churches, Catholic, Lutheran, Methodist, Evangelical, Lutheran, Baptist, Pentecostal, and Reformed traditions. They under the leadership of Theology MSc students and staff as well as pastor-theologian members to the COVID-19 vaccine.
