ASSEMBLY BUSINESS COMMITTEE

Report to the General Assembly 2025

MEMBERSHIP:

The following are the members of the Assembly Business Committee (ABC):

Revs, MI Cook (Convener), L Neshangwe (Moderator), Dr. A Kasambala (Moderator Designate) Dr. George Marchinkowski (General Secretary), Vusi Mkhungo (Clerk of Assembly), M Gwele, B Gaborone, V Mabo and A Banda.

TERMS OF REFERENCE

The following are the terms of reference for the ABC:

- a) To organise meetings of the General Assembly and Executive Commission.
- b) To draw the agenda for the General Assembly and the Executive Commission.
- c) Formulate the Standing Orders of the General Assembly and the Executive Commission.
- d) Taking responsibility for conducting the business of the General Assembly and Executive Commission.
- e) Ensure communication and implementation of decisions of General Assembly and Executive Commission.
- f) Attend to matters that may arise between the sitting of General Assembly and Executive Commission.
- g) Ensure the preservation of the UPCSA's organizational memory (Repository) as drawn from the decisions of the General Assembly and Executive Commission.

The following goals were set at the beginning of the term which began in July 2023 and will conclude in July 2025.

- To make a success of the Executive Commission 2024 which is being hosted by Central Office and the Presbytery of Tshwane.
- To support and monitor the preparations for the General Assembly 2025 in the Synod of JH Soga Memorial.
- To explore the possibility of the General Assembly 2025 being an in-person meeting, including the Committee Conveners and Commissioners.
- To distribute the papers of General Assembly 2023 and the Executive Commission 2024 timeously, and ensure implementation of its decisions, through Committees of GA, Presbyteries and congregations.
- To ensure that there was support offered to the Moderator and her team during the periods between sittings of General Assembly and Executive Commission.
- To assist Cluster Coordinators with their role and work in the denomination, offering resources and support.
- To continue to add to the virtual repository of all the decisions taken by the General Assembly and Executive Commissions.

As this timeframe concludes with the sitting of General Assembly 2025, I am proud to report, as Convener, that each of the stated goals has been successfully achieved.

COMMITTEE STRUCTURE AND MEMBERSHIP

The current structure involving Cluster Coordinators has now been in place for four years. At the 2023 sitting of the General Assembly, the membership of this committee was revised to reflect and support this model. Cluster Coordinators were formally appointed as members of the Assembly Business Committee (ABC) to strengthen communication and collaboration between the ABC and the various General Assembly committees.

Since then, the ABC has worked closely with the Cluster Coordinators, providing guidance and support in their roles, which are integral to the life and work of the Assembly. Our meetings have offered a platform to monitor the progress of different committees, address challenges as they arise, and ensure alignment with the wider mission of the UPCSA.

This model has already proven beneficial, and we are committed to further developing and refining this structure to realise its full potential in the years ahead.

STANDING ORDERS

The current Standing Orders, originally reviewed for the 2021 General Assembly and the 2022 Executive Commission to accommodate a virtual meeting format, have once again been revised to reflect the hybrid nature of the 2025 Assembly. The Assembly Business Committee (ABC) continues to fine-tune these provisions as we gain further insight and experience in managing the business of the church within hybrid and evolving formats.

The ABC views the Standing Orders as a living document—one that must be continually adapted to suit the context and needs of the Assembly and the broader decision-making structures of the UPCSA.

We would like to highlight the following key updates, which we believe significantly impact the life and work of the General Assembly:

- 4.3 Records Committee: In light of the widespread move to digital record-keeping and the impracticality of transporting physical minute books, the ABC proposes that all committee minutes be submitted electronically to the Clerk. These will be reviewed and confirmed electronically, streamlining the process and embracing more sustainable practices.
- 5.2 Seating of the General Secretary: The requirement that “The General Secretary shall also be seated at the front table” has been reconsidered. The committee believes the General Secretary better serves the Assembly by having the flexibility to move and offer support as needed, rather than being confined to the front table. This change facilitates greater efficiency in assisting the Moderator, ABC Convener, and the Clerk.
- 9.5 Election Programme: The previous version of the Standing Orders included a detailed Election Programme designed for paper-ballot voting. With the successful transition to an electronic voting system, the programme is no longer relevant and has been removed. Voting will now take place in a single streamlined session.

These amendments reflect our ongoing efforts to ensure that our procedures remain practical, relevant, and aligned with the changing needs of the church and its assemblies.

ORIENTATION (DRY RUNS & PROCEDURES)

In preparation for the 2025 General Assembly, the Assembly Business Committee (ABC) facilitated a series of three online orientation sessions, referred to as “Dry Runs,” to equip commissioners with the necessary tools and information for meaningful participation.

- The first Dry Run was specifically designed for commissioners who would be joining the Assembly remotely. This session focused on virtual meeting etiquette and provided guidance on how to register and log in to the platform effectively.
- The second Dry Run was a general orientation intended for all commissioners. It provided an overview of the Assembly process, including where to access the official Assembly papers and when supplementary materials would become available. The General Secretary also produced a comprehensive and insightful orientation video that explained the Assembly's decision-making process, enhancing understanding and preparedness.
- The third and final Dry Run served as a practical session to introduce and test the developed decision-making Widget. This tool enables commissioners to express their views using colour-coded cards (orange or blue) during consensus-building exercises. The session also provided instructions on how commissioners could use the Widget to indicate a desire to speak during deliberations.

As part of the consensus model, 15 Insaka groups (1 to meet virtually) have been formed, each comprising approximately 10-12 participants selected at random. Every group has an appointed facilitator and scribe. These groups serve as the foundation for deeper listening and shared discernment throughout the decision-making process.

This General Assembly will begin under the Westminster Model for initial business and then transition to the Consensus Decision-Making Model. We urge all commissioners to actively engage in every phase of the consensus model, namely the Listening Session, the Insaka Session, and the Decision Session. Full participation ensures that the discernment process reflects the collective voice and spiritual integrity of the church.

In accordance with the decision of the 2018 General Assembly, all proceedings of this General Assembly will be recorded and securely stored in the UPCSA's cloud-based repository, preserving the integrity and transparency of our shared work.

ADOPTION OF THE PROPOSED AGENDA

The preliminary draft agenda was distributed to all commissioners along with the General Assembly papers. For those who may not have attended a General Assembly or Executive Commission meeting recently, it is important to note that the structure of the agenda has undergone some significant changes.

The agenda reflects the implementation of the cluster model, aligning committee reports according to their respective clusters. The intention behind this format is to improve coherence and efficiency by grouping together committees that perform related or overlapping work. We hope that this approach will assist commissioners and delegates in engaging more meaningfully with the business of the Assembly.

Each day will begin and end with devotions. The Moderator-Designate has requested that the morning devotions include extended time for Bible study within the Insaka groups, offering both spiritual grounding and theological reflection as we commence our daily work. Evening devotions will be brief, offering space for quiet reflection and prayer. These devotional times are vital as we centre ourselves in God's presence and seek the Spirit's guidance in making wise and faithful decisions for the future of our denomination and its witness in the world.

Additionally, this year's General Assembly is aligned with the "Going for Growth" campaign. The Mission and Discipleship Committee has been invited to contribute to the agenda by providing opportunities to inspire, resource, and equip commissioners for growth in mission and ministry. The agenda includes a few dedicated slots—some interactive, others reflective—to highlight and promote this important initiative.

DECISIONS OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMISSION 2024

The decisions of the Executive Commission 2024 were circulated to all General Assembly committees, presbyteries, and congregations. In addition to this, meetings were held with the Cluster Coordinators and conveners of GA committees to highlight these decisions and to request that attention be given to matters relevant to their areas of responsibility. This engagement remains an ongoing process as we seek to ensure faithful implementation and alignment with the direction of the wider church.

GENERAL ASSEMBLY 2025

Some time ago, the Synod of J.H. Soga extended an invitation to host the General Assembly within its bounds. This invitation was graciously accepted at the 2023 sitting of the General Assembly. The Local Organising Committee (LOC) and supporting teams have worked diligently and with great care to prepare for this gathering—the first fully in-person Assembly since the COVID-19 pandemic. The Assembly Business Committee (ABC) is deeply grateful for the hard work and dedication that has gone into ensuring a well-organised and welcoming Assembly.

EXECUTIVE COMMISSION 2026

Following two successful Executive Commission meetings in 2022 and 2024, the Central Office team has again been tasked with planning and coordinating the next Executive Commission. The ABC, through the GS, approached the Presbytery of Highveld with a request to host the 2026 meeting, specifically identifying Gateway Congregation as the proposed venue.

The proposed dates for the Executive Commission are:

Sunday, 20 June – Wednesday, 24 June 2026

Report to the General Assembly 2025

Introduction

It gives me a great honour to present this report. Much of the work that the Clerk of Assembly does is covered in the reports of the Committees he is involved in. This report covers:

- Committee Reports
- Meeting with Presbytery Officials
- Remits
- Assembly/Executive Commission Papers.

Committee Reports

Over several years many comments has been made about GA Committee Convener's lack of diligence in submitting their committee reports within the time frames stipulated in the Standing Orders. This often resulted in original reports being submitted as Supplementaries which meant that some reports were only seen for the first time when Commissioners arrived at Assembly.

I am happy to report that all reports to be heard at this Assembly, other than the genuine Supplementary reports, are contained in the Papers. Let me take this opportunity to thank conveners for their much-appreciated timely responses.

Unfortunately, the same cannot be said about the information needed for certain Presbyteries. That can be seen from the input received from those Presbyteries.

Meetings with Presbytery Officials

As indicated in the past, ever since we started having these meetings, there has generally been good cooperation between Presbyteries and the Central Office. Also, good practices have been learned between Presbyteries. Unfortunately, there are those Presbyteries that have not taken these meetings seriously in that they have not participated in the information sharing sessions. Much as these are not necessarily decision-making meetings, it is important that we all move in the same direction. We encourage all Presbytery officials to join others.

Remits

The 2024 Executive Commission resolved to send back to Presbyteries an overture on the transnationality of the UPCSA and to report back to the Clerk of Assembly by the 30th of November 2024. Only eGoli and Tshwane Presbyteries submitted their responses and the rest of the Presbyteries said nothing. A full report on this matter is covered on the report of the Priorities and Resources Committee report.

Papers of General Assembly/Executive Commission

It has been reported in the past that due to financial constraints UPCSA finds herself in, it is no longer possible to print the papers of General Assembly and Executive Commission. We now send these electronically directly to Commissioners and Presbytery Clerks. We ask Presbyteries to help print for those of their commissioners who are not able to read from their laptops etc. It is unfortunate that we still get a lot of requests from individuals asking for these.

Proposal:

1. The General Assembly receives the report.

NOMINATIONS COMMITTEE

Supplementary Report for to the General Assembly 2025

Following from the Nominations Committee report in the 2025 General Assembly Papers, this Supplementary report is about the Policy on the Nomination and Appointment of Committees and Commissions of General Assembly, to propose a new way in which conveners and members of committees are appointed. The Nominations Policy is outlined in Annexure 1, below. Changes to the General Assembly Standing Orders and the Manual of Faith and Order will follow consequently if the Nominations Policy is agreed to.

Geographical Location

The Manual of Faith and Order instructs the Nominations committee first to appoint the committee convener and second to appoint the committee members from the same geographical region as convener. This was about reducing travel expenses of the committee members when attending in person committee meetings.

Technology is now available for virtual committee meetings, so conveners and committee members no longer need to be in the same geographical region. Most General Assembly committees now meet virtually. The proposal is that geographical region where it relates to limiting travel expense of committee members is removed from the Policy, the Standing Orders and at a later stage from the Manual of Faith and Order.

Nominations Policy Changes

The Nominations Policy agreed to at the 2019 Executive Commission set up the "Standing" Nominations Committee that met during the year and the "Ad-hoc" Nominations Committee that met during General Assembly. This complicated the Nomination process at virtual General Assemblies because when the Standing committee Draft Nominations report was proposed, radical changes in committee conveners and members were made to the Draft Nominations report by the Ad-hoc committee. This proved to be counterproductive as it resulted in long meetings, after the hours of normal General Assembly business, and many changes were made to the Draft report, undoing the work done by the Standing Committee.

Note that the Standing Orders of Assembly and the Manual of Faith and Order call the Nominations committee the 'Core Group'. This 'Core Group' is to be supplemented during a General Assembly by commissioners from Presbyteries not represented on the 'Core Group'.

The proposal is for one Nominations committee, made up of one representative from each of the Presbyteries within the denomination that meets virtually throughout the year and presents a Draft Nominations committee report to the General Assembly and if needed meets virtually after business hours during the General Assembly or at an Executive Commission, and does the work required of them.

The Nominations committee will have a representative from each Presbytery within the denomination which means it will be a large General Assembly committee meeting virtually during the year and also meeting virtually during a General Assembly and Executive Commission.

This Nominations committee will be an inclusive committee. Each Presbytery representative will be able to propose conveners and members who have the necessary skills and time to serve on the committees of General Assembly from within their Presbytery. Each Presbytery will nominate a commissioner to serve as their representative on the Nominations committee.

REV CL CAMPBELL - CONVENER

REVISED PROPOSALS:

1. The General Assembly receives the report. (T)
2. The General Assembly adopts the Policy on the Nomination and Appointment of Committees and Commissions of Assembly as outlined in Annexure 1 below. (M)
3. The General Assembly instructs the Assembly Business Committee to amend the Standing Orders and the Manual Committee to amend the relevant Manual paragraphs accordingly. (M)

2025 Nominations Committee Report for Supplementary Papers
Annexure 1*Policy for the Nomination and Appointment of Committees and Commissions of General Assembly*Introduction

The General Assembly delegates its business to Committees and Commissions while the Assembly is not in session. Committees of the Assembly are important in the functioning of the denomination and population of the committees must be done in a way that ensures the denomination is provided with a combination of skills and experience with the required visionary insight to lead the denomination forward. Establishment of Committees of Assembly must be undergirded by the principles of Transparency, Participation, Consultation, Respect and Care.

Nominations Committee Structural Changes

The Nominations committee is made up of one representative from each of the Presbyteries within the denomination plus a Convener appointed by the General Assembly. It meets virtually throughout the year and presents a Draft Nominations committee report to the General Assembly and if needed meets virtually after business hours during the General Assembly or at an Executive Commission, and does the work required of it by the Assembly.

Each Presbytery representative will propose conveners and members who have the necessary skills and time to serve on the committees of General Assembly from within their Presbytery.

Each Presbytery is to nominate a commissioner to serve as their representative on the Nominations committee.

Policy Guidelines

The Nominations Committee, in nominating General Assembly Cluster Conveners, Committee Conveners and Members of Committees, are to adhere to the following policy guidelines:

- (a) Only a person in full standing as an enrolled member of this Church, or of a United Congregation in which this Church is a constituent participant, may be appointed as a member on a Committee of General Assembly.
- (b) Cluster Conveners are appointed to ensure that the General Assembly Committees within their Clusters are meeting regularly and doing the required work. (They are to report regularly to the Clerk of Assembly and to the Convener of the Assembly Business Committee of which they are members.)
- (c) The normal period of tenure of an Assembly Committee and that of its Convener shall be four years, with the possibility of this tenure being extended for a further four years. Should the Committee desire to extend its life beyond the first four years, it should motivate this to the Convener of the Nominations Committee, who presents the motivation to the General Assembly. If a committee can show that it has specific tasks which will be completed through the extension of its appointment for a further period, it should bring this specifically to the attention of the General Assembly in its written Report.

- (d) Committee Convener nominations need to be spread as widely as possible throughout the different Presbyteries and Countries of the UPCSA.
- (e) Committee member nominations need to be spread as widely as possible throughout the different Presbyteries and Countries of the UPCSA.
- (f) In the nominating of Conveners and Committee members, care should be taken that no person is nominated to serve on more than two Committees at a time. Nomination onto more than two Committees shall be made only where specific knowledge and expertise is required.
- (g) In nominating people to serve as Conveners or Committee members, propose the most suitable persons in the UPCSA for the positions irrespective of race, gender, status (Minister / Elder / Congregational Member) or age, always considering the need for women and young people to be included in the Committee structures of the Church.
- (h) Consult Presbyteries and Congregations about whether they have suitably gifted and informed persons to nominate to specific Committees.
- (i) Committees should normally have no more than 10 to 12 members.
- (j) Where the General Assembly has determined the criteria for the appointment of persons to serve on specific Committees, and / or to be selected for specific expertise, the Nominations Committee implements the Assembly decision in recommending names to the Assembly.

MINISTRY

Supplementary Report to the General Assembly 2025

The General Assembly Ministry Committee's Secretary held two consultations with the ministers regarding Ministers' stipends. The first consultation was better attended than the second one. There is a feeling amongst Ministers that thorough research on this matter should be conducted. It was further advised that the stipend speaks directly to the welfare of Ministers and therefore needs not be taken lightly. These consultations assisted the Ministry Committee in addressing the overture that was referred to the Ministry Committee regarding the matter of Ministry stipends and transport allowances to the Ministers ministering in rural areas.

Below are the figures to assist Presbyteries and Congregations when dealing with the Stipends of their Ministers.

4. The General Assembly notes that the proposed minimum increases across the board for the Presbytery of Zimbabwe were done in consultation with the Ministers within the Presbytery of Zimbabwe. (T)
5. The General Assembly resolves that Presbyteries should determine travel allowances based on their contexts. (M)
6. The General Assembly commends the Ministry Committee for arranging the Ministers' consultation on stipends and encourages Ministers to participate in future consultations. (T)
7. The General Assembly notes that the Ministry Committee discerned a call on eight candidates. (T)

FINANCE

SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT TO THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY 2025

4. PROPERTIES AND TITLE DEEDS (amended – highlighted below)

We remain satisfied with a previous ruling in that the Central Office of the General Assembly receive CERTIFIED COPIES of the original title deeds, together with a letter from the Minister and Session Clerk stating that they will not sell their property unless permission is sought and granted by both the Presbytery and General Assembly Finance Committees.

Congregations who have not submitted copies of their title deeds to the Central Office should please do so as soon as possible, as this will affect your ability to obtain any form of relief from Ministry Contributions. Refer clause 7.2 of the Manual of Faith and Order states: "All applications for Ministry Contribution relief must be accompanied by: c) Copies of deeds of UPCSA owned land and buildings or proof from the institution which holds the deed where relevant."

Currently, where a congregation is dissolved and its property is sold, the money is often ring-fenced by the Presbytery, although most properties in fact, belong to the General Assembly. Whilst we understand that the congregation has maintained the properties over the many years, the properties do in fact belong to the denomination. We therefore propose that where a property is sold in South Africa, the Presbytery engage the Finance committee of the General Assembly, and that an agreement is reached so that at least 50% of the proceeds belong and are transferred to the General Assembly. This is more of an amicable solution where both parties benefit.

We are also aware that some congregations do not own their buildings and have the right to use the buildings in which they worship. In such cases, a PTO (Permission to Occupy) should be in place, and a copy of this too, should be submitted to the Central Office. Failure to have such certificate in place, is a risk to the congregation as their right to use the premises could be terminated at any stage.

Proposal 6: The General Assembly again reminds all Presbyteries to assist congregations in transferring the property and obtaining title deeds from their local municipal offices for properties still in the local municipality's name, into the General Assembly or congregation's name. (M)

Proposal 7: The General Assembly again instructs all Presbyteries and congregations who have not submitted certified copies of their title deeds to the Central Office yet, to do so by latest 30th September 2025, together with a letter stating they will not sell their property without the consent of both the Presbytery and General Assembly Finance Committee. (M)

Proposal 8: The General Assembly again reminds all Presbyteries to assist congregations who have Permission to Occupy certificates in place to submit these to the Central Office, and where a certificate is not in place, to assist their congregations in obtaining one, and then to submit it to the Central Office. (M)

Proposal 25 (Additional): The General Assembly instructs the Manual committee to amend the Manual to include a paragraph that deals with the sale of properties in South Africa, so that at least 50% of the proceeds of a sale (where a congregation has been dissolved) go to the General Assembly. (M)

PROPOSALS (additional)

25. The General Assembly instructs the Manual committee to amend the Manual to include a paragraph that deals with the sale of properties in South Africa, so that at least 50% of the proceeds of a sale (where a congregation has been dissolved) go to the General Assembly. (M)

MANUAL

This Supplementary report expresses the Manual committee's response to two new items of Assembly business: the Overture from the Presbytery of eThekweni about the election of the Moderator of General Assembly, and the proposal from the General Assembly Nominations committee to change its composition and working process. The committee met on Wednesday 4 June 2025 to consider these two matters.

1. Overture from the Presbytery of eThekweni

The Presbytery of eThekweni resolved to overture the General Assembly at its meeting on 11 February 2025. The Overture concerns a proposed change to the "system of nominating and deciding on the election of the Moderator Designate."

What the Presbytery craves is that the Moderator of General Assembly be considered elected by a simple counting of the nominations from Presbyteries. This would, in effect, transfer the discernment about who should preside at the Assembly from the General Assembly itself to the Presbyteries.

As a concession, the Presbytery offers a "processing function" to the Executive Commission of Assembly, only to direct the list of processed candidates back to Presbyteries for "final discernment" at their February meetings. The General Assembly will then be constrained to "make a determination on the preferred candidate based on the number of Presbyteries that elected him/her."

The Committee is opposed to the Overture on the following grounds:

- (a) The Overture lacks a clear, definite, proposal. It talks about a process that "should" be followed but doesn't say which paragraphs of the Manual have to be changed and doesn't put forward new wording for them. The Overture envisages that in the first round "ideally" the Presbyteries should submit their nominations to the Executive Commission that will "process the candidates and send the list to the Presbyteries for final discernment." What does this mean? Do they have to submit their nominations to the Executive Commission, or not? Another question is what happens if someone exercises his/her right to nominate a candidate from the floor. There is no mention of this possibility in the Overture or motivation, but it flows from the fact that the General Assembly is the supreme Council.
- (b) The Overture transfers the prerogative for electing the Moderator of General Assembly from the General Assembly itself to the Presbyteries. In our polity, a Council elects its own Office Bearers (Consider the Presbyteries and the Synods which elect their own office bearers). The General Assembly will in the process be disempowered of its right to elect its own Moderator. The "supreme Council of the Church" will not have the power to elect its Moderator!

Lastly, the Overture makes a fundamental error in regard to Presbyterian polity when it states: "The Moderator of the General Assembly is the Moderator of the whole denomination." While this may seem a reasonable assumption, it is untrue. The Moderator is specifically defined as the "Moderator of General Assembly," not of the Church as a whole. This title reflects the fact that the Moderator has no executive authority nor powers at any level in the UPCSA but has a very important role in the Assembly, as well as limited pastoral roles and an ecumenical and public relations functions. The overture would thus cause a fundamental shift in our polity and should therefore be dismissed.

If the Overture does carry, it would be required to be sent down to Presbyteries using the Barrier procedure.

Commissioners should familiarise themselves with the following paragraphs before voting on this overture: Overtures (14.18-14.26), Nomination and election of Moderator of G.A. (10.27, 12.8-12.15), Authority and functions of Moderator (12.16-12.32), in GA debates (12.32) and the status of Moderator, indicated by full title (12.15).

2. Nominations Committee Supplementary Report

The Nominations committee has produced an excellent Supplementary report, seeking to bring the Standing Orders and relevant Manual provisions up to date with their current operating procedures, especially with regard to virtual/online meetings. The Manual Committee has studied the supplementary report and wishes to support the proposals. The committee makes the following input to activate the Nominations committee proposals. Proposals 2 and 3 below should be considered ONLY IF THE ASSEMBLY AGREES to the Nominations committee Supplementary proposals:

(a) Standing Orders

The committee proposes the following changes to the Standing Orders:

"4.2.1. The Nomination Committee Process shall be as follows:

- (a) The Convener of the Nominations Committee corresponds by e-mail ~~or otherwise~~ with the members appointed to it by the General Assembly (~~who with him/her constitute 'the core group'~~) which consists of one member per Presbytery. The committee meets using a virtual meeting platform. Together they decide before the end of May which Conveners of Assembly committees should continue in office, bearing in mind Assembly's decision about length of tenure. The Convener ascertains from current Conveners who are otherwise due to retire in terms of that decision, whether there are good reasons for them to continue in office.
- (b) The Convener writes to contacts all Conveners, who ~~in~~ the core group committee thinks should continue in office by 15th April, requesting them to let him/her have, by 15th May, the names of those they wish to be members of their committees.
- (c) The ~~core group~~ committee compiles a preliminary report. The Convener sends this to all ~~Presbytery-appointed~~ members of the Committee by 31st May.
- (d) All members of the Committee comment to the Convener on the report by 15th June.
- (e) The Convener compiles a first draft report for the Assembly and submits that for printing in the Supplementary Papers. He/she tables this without discussion on the Sunday of the Assembly and requests commissioners to communicate comments on it to him/her.
- (f) The ~~full~~ Nominations Committee meets virtually ~~at~~ during Assembly to consider the first draft and amends it in light of information and comments from Assembly commissioners made directly to the Convener. The Convener then presents the second draft on the Tuesday of the Assembly and the final report on the Thursday.

(a) Manual

The committee proposes the following changes to the Manual of Faith and Order:

MEMBERSHIP OF A COMMITTEE OF GENERAL ASSEMBLY

- 13.59 The General Assembly's Nominations Committee proposes, and the Assembly or its Executive Commission approves, those nominated to serve as the Conveners and members of Assembly Committees (including the Nominations Committee itself). Every ordinary meeting of the General Assembly adds to the Nominations Committee one Commissioner from every Presbytery ~~that is not already represented on it~~. The Nominations Committee may meet virtually ~~at~~ during the Assembly ~~venue~~ before the Assembly, and during breaks in the Assembly's business and, with the Assembly's approval, at other times.
- 13.63 In nominating persons as Conveners, the Nominations Committee seeks to propose the most suitable person in the UPCSA for the position irrespective of race, gender, status (Minister, Elder, etc), age or geographical location. It seeks also, in the case of Committees other than those which conduct their business by ~~correspondence~~ virtual meeting platform, to take account of the availability of support persons within reasonable distance of the place of residence of the Convener who may be able to serve on the Committee. The Nominations Committee also seeks to spread the convenerships as widely through the Church as possible.
- 13.64 In nominating persons as members of Committees that ~~do not~~ conduct their business by ~~correspondence~~ on virtual platforms, the Nominations Committee:
- ~~(a) attempts to find enough persons within a reasonably small geographic area to keep the costs of travel as low as possible. It should nominate persons who will need to travel long distances only if they have special expertise that makes their contribution to the Committee's work essential or at least highly desirable. Otherwise persons with special skills residing a long way away from where the Committee will meet members", who do not attend but contribute to the work of the Committee by e-mail or correspondence;~~
 - (b) as far as possible includes persons of different races, ages and genders, taking into account at all times the need for women and young people to be included in the Committee structures of the Church;
 - (c) may consult Presbyteries and Congregations about whether they have suitably gifted and informed persons to nominate to specific Committees.

The Manual committee respectfully submits this report as its opinion on these two matters which are before the General Assembly for discernment.

CONVENER

PROPOSALS:

1. The General Assembly receives the supplementary report. (T)
2. The General Assembly amends the Standing Orders paragraph 4.2.1. as indicated in the body of the report. (M)
3. The General Assembly amends paragraphs 13.59, 13.63, and 13.64. as indicated in the body of the report above. (M)

JOINT COMMISSION ON UNION

Supplementary Report to the General Assembly 2025

This Supplementary Report is presented to inform the Assembly of two developments subsequent to the finalisation of the Commission's report published in the Assembly Papers in April 2025.

1. Attempt at convening a meeting with the UCCSA

On 8 April 2025, the General Secretary made an attempt to organise a meeting with a delegation from the UCCSA to discuss a way forward on Union negotiations. The Rev Kudzani Ndebele responded positively, offering to come across to the UPCSA Central Office in Kempton Park. It was agreed that the meeting take place on Monday 5 May 2025. Arrangements were made, including the purchase of an air ticket for the Convener, the Rev. Natalie Gordon, from Cape Town.

On the day before the meeting (on Sunday 4 May), the General Secretary sent a WhatsApp message to the UCCSA General Secretary about how the next day's meeting was much anticipated, and all arrangements were in order. The Rev Ndebele responded that he was "in Bulawayo conducting a mass ordination for 4 ministers, would be driving to Johannesburg the next day, and that he would like to suggest that the meeting be moved to Wednesday."

It was not possible to move the meeting, and the cost of the air ticket was lost. The General Secretary expressed his surprise and disappointment to the UCCSA General Secretary at the lack of notice.

A meeting of the UPCSA's half of the JCU was called for 6 May 2025 and it was agreed that we pause our activity as regards the UCCSA General Assembly.

2. Meeting with the South African Synod

On Tuesday 4 June 2025, an informal meeting was held with the Office Bearers of the South African Synod of the UCCSA. The idea was mooted at a CUC meeting in which the General Secretary of the UPCSA and the SA Synod Secretary of the UCCSA were present. The meeting took place at the UPCSA Central Office.

At the meeting, attended by the Ministry Secretary, the Chief Financial Officer, the Revs Theo Groeneveld (Mission & Discipleship), Melanie Cook (Gender Desk) and the General Secretary, it was decided to pursue a process of exploring areas of common interest. The UCCSA delegation, consisting of the Rev Aubrey Nsthekang (Synod Chair), Bertram Swartz (Synod Secretary) and Heidi Petersen (Synod Chair elect) agreed to put the proposal to their Synod in July and we agreed to put the proposal to our General Assembly.

The purpose of exploring working together would be to create efficiencies and to strengthen our joint ecumenical voice. It was suggested that the Presbytery of Zimbabwe also be encouraged to do a similar exploration with the UCCSA's Synod of Zimbabwe. South Africa and Zimbabwe are the only two countries where both the UCCSA and the UPCSA have congregations.

Proposals

1. The General Assembly receives the report. (T)
2. The General Assembly authorises the Joint Commission/Committee to continue the exploration of how the UPCSA may work together with the UCCSA in future. (M)

CHURCH FELLOWSHIPS

Supplementary Report to the General Assembly 2025

Progress Report of the CFC Uniform Task Team on the Uniform Development of Church Fellowships

1. Introduction

This supplementary report seeks to report 3 new matters that are not in the original report.

2. TASK TEAM ON FELLOWSHIPS UNIFORM

The Church Fellowships Committee (CFC), following the decision by the 2023 General Assembly and recognizing the shared aspirations of fellowships regarding the development of uniforms, initiated a unifying process by allowing CFC to establish a Uniform Task Team.

The need for a coordinated and spiritually guided process became evident as Fellowships began exploring uniform concepts in isolation, sometimes leading to confusion, duplicated efforts, or in certain instances unintended tensions. The process of developing Fellowship Uniform should foster a sense of unity and ensure that all voices are heard in shaping a shared identity.

This report outlines the Task Team's initial deliberations and proposed way forward, which prioritises collaboration, consultation, and denominational coherence.

2.1. Composition and Representation

The General Assembly declared that no individual fellowship may independently initiate or finalise uniform decisions outside of the umbrella of the CFC Committee. More than anything, this was done to ensure that Fellowships follow a unified approach that is inclusive to all within the Denomination.

The CFC Committee mandated all Fellowships to provide two members who will form part of the Uniform Task Team. The inaugural meeting of the Uniform Task Team convened by the CFC Convener, Rev T Masikane, was held at the Central Office of the General Assembly on the 31 May 2025.

The Task Team comprises appointed representatives from the following fellowships:

Fellowship of Men (FOM)

- Rev Celani Mbhele
- Mr Bongile Bokwana

Fellowship of Women (FOW)

- Ms Nonzame Bosiki
- Ms Bomela

Fellowship of Young Women (FOYW)

- Ms Rebone Mamabolo
- Ms Zimi Nomzaza

Fellowship of Youth (FOY)

- Mr Sakhele July
- Ms Iviwe Marwanqa

Fellowship of Church Choirs and Musicians (FCCM)

- Ms Nosipho Mdedetyana
- Ms Nomazizi Dwadwa

These members understand that while serving within this Task Team their role is not tied to their current positions as office-bearers in their respective Fellowships, however, they serve as appointed contributors to a broader denominational effort.

While each member brings valuable insights from their Fellowships, their responsibility is to act in the interest of all fellowships and the UPCSA as a whole.

Given the nature and continuity required by the uniform development process, it is strongly encouraged that appointed members remain part of the Task Team for the full duration of the project. This continuity is essential to ensure clarity, minimize disruptions, and enable the successful and effective completion of the Task Team's mandate.

2.2. General Assembly decision and narrative

The 2023 General Assembly took note of concerns around the manner in which uniforms are being handled by Fellowships. It is understood that Fellowships were permitted by the Constitution of Church Fellowships to (Clause 6.3.2) to work on their uniform. The CFC Committee in its report to the General Assembly argued that discussions on Uniforms is still a sensitive issue that should be handled with care.

Some Fellowships were able to find ways to have inclusive conversations around uniform, however, in one instance a Council meeting could not be concluded due to tensions that arose as they were discussing one item on the uniform.

To foster a sense of unity and ensure that all voices are heard in shaping a shared identity, the General Assembly took the following decisions:

- a. The General Assembly mandates the Church Fellowships Committee to attend to the matter of Fellowships uniforms.
- b. The General Assembly discourages the fellowships from engagement in discussions about uniforms without the facilitation by the CFC.

Given the rich history of the UPCSAs and its former associations, it is imperative that this process be approached with care, sensitivity, and spiritual discernment. New and pivotal approaches must be undertaken to find ways to unify Fellowships and represent the diverse experiences within the denomination.

2.3. Terms of reference

The Task Team has set the following terms to guide the purpose of the committee:
The Task Team shall facilitate the crafting of symbols and uniforms that express the identity of Fellowships as part of the UPCSAs.

The Task Team shall develop a policy on the use of symbols and uniform of Fellowships that promotes unity, equality and dignity.

3. Consultation and way forward

The Task Team, having held its first meeting considered its mandate from the General Assembly. This undertaking should foster cohesion among fellowships and ensure that the development of Fellowship uniform is inclusive, prayerfully discerned, and forward-looking.

The Task Team noted there was strong consensus on the need for meaningful consultation with Fellowships. Fellowships will be given an opportunity to provide inputs and their views to the Task Team for consideration. Final designs on Uniform will be provided to the General Assembly for consideration.

The issue the Task Team wishes to address in the current year, would be the narrative around the decisions on the development of Fellowship uniform. In order to ensure all Fellowships have a common understanding this report will be issued to each Fellowship Denominational Conference within the current year.

This will be the first approach to on consultation with Fellowships and gather inputs on way forward. In order to initiate conversations and provoke new ways of thinking, the committee will also share proposed logo designs to allow Fellowship to provide feedback and inputs.

4. Proposed Logos

- 4.1. The Task Team acknowledged the need for distinct emblems or badges to clearly identify UPCSAs Fellowships and to differentiate UPCSAs members from similar ecumenical organisations.
- 4.2. The Task Team appreciates that some Fellowships have already designed logos to represent them. What can be noted, is that some Fellowships have held on to symbols informed by their former associations.
- 4.3. The design of the Fellowship of Youth on the other hand has designed something new and completely different. Their design challenges existing views of holding on to past symbols.
- 4.4. To initiate the process on designing Uniform the Task Team adopted the design concept, and has considered the use of this concept to represent all Fellowships logo designs. The key idea here is to allow Fellowship to have a common look where they can be identified as UPCSAs Fellowships, but be distinct among themselves.
- 4.5. The Task Team wishes to submit these preliminary designs for consideration by all participants. Fellowships are encouraged to consider these designs and provide inputs to the Task Team. The inputs may consider distinctive ways to identify Fellowships.
- 4.6. The proposed designs are as follows:

Fellowship of Church Choirs and Musicians

This process marks a historic opportunity to shape a unified identity for UPCSA fellowships through inclusive, consultative design of uniforms. The task team is committed to transparency, fairness, and spiritual integrity in this journey.

We respectfully submit this report for consideration, endorsement, and communication across the denomination.

5. THE FELLOWSHIP OF WOMEN CONCERNS

The committee received a letter of concerns from the Fellowship of Women Denominational Executive committee. The letter is raising concerns about what they call interference by some members and leaders in the work the fellowship. Also it raises concerns about unjust criticism that happens on social media. Unfortunately these issues were generalised in the letter. The letter came towards the closing date for submission of the supplementary papers which made it impossible for the committee to deal with the matter. This matter is going to be attended by the committee once all facts are presented however the committee brings the matter to the General Assembly to request the Assembly to discourage any member of the church to take issues of the Fellowships to the social media and further encourages that proper structures be used to raise any concern on the work of fellowships within the church. We want to believe that every Presbytery and every Session with Fellowships does have a Convenor of the Church Fellowships Committee who can be used in channelling any concerns regarding the work of fellowships.

Having said the above, the committee wish to acknowledge the fact that some of the criticism comes from concerns members of the UPCSA although sometimes wrong platform are used to voice them. All fellowships were given same objectives by the church through the Fellowships constitution that was adopted in 2019. The committee struggles to align the work of the fellowships to their objectives. Almost all fellowships are stuck to what they are used to.

It is based on that view that we believe that there is an urgent need for the General Assembly to offer guidance to Fellowships in order to help them fulfill the purpose for which they are established. Without this essential guidance, Fellowships will continue to exist as appendages that perform their own activities unrelated to the vision and mission of the Church.

To this end, Fellowships could be guided to support the vision of the Church by focusing on four main areas, namely, Evangelism, Church in Society, spiritual growth and Discipleship.

The Assembly can then in partnership with the Fellowships develop performance areas and performance indicators.

It is hoped that this will reduce the current criticism and possible conflict in the Fellowships and outside.

6. FELLOWSHIP OF YOUTH

The fellowship of Youth missed the original closing date for the submission of the bylaws. The committee urges the General Assembly to receive the attached document of the FOY bylaws.

THE UNITING PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH IN SOUTHERN AFRICA

FELLOWSHIP OF YOUTH BYLAWS

1 PREAMBLE

The Church has been called into being by the will of God, who gathers all people into fellowship in Christ, which is created and sustained by the power of the Holy Spirit. The Church is one, because it worships only one God, serves one Lord and is united by one Spirit in one faith, one hope and one baptism, to be one People, one Family, one Body, one Temple (Eph. 4:1-6). Therefore, the Lord of the Church calls it to manifest its unity, not just spiritually, but visibly before the world. Recognizing the varied needs and spiritual gifts within the body (1Cor. 12), the Church allows for certain groups to exist with the purpose and function to bear witness to the saving Gospel of Jesus Christ to all who do not yet believe in him, to build up in faith, hope and love those who already believe, and to proclaim his sovereignty over the world.

The Church Fellowships, within the UPCSAs, aim to fulfil this purpose as they cater for the needs of and ministry to [the] youth. They do so, bearing in mind the oneness and unity of the body of Christ.

This document has been developed in accordance with Chapter ... Constitution of Fellowships as contained in the Manual of Faith and Order of the UPCSAs. Their aim is to combine the Constitution and the Bylaws into one comprehensive document in order to avoid contradictions and omissions for the Youth Members.

2 NAME

The name of the fellowship shall be the 'Uniting Presbyterian Fellowship of Youth' (UPFOY) here after referred to as the 'Fellowship of Youth' (FOY). [ref 2.4]

3 VISION

Advance the Kingdom of God in a manner befitting the Church and consistent with God's word.

4 MISSION

To present Christ in a manner whereby we reflect and promote spiritual growth and unity amongst youth members.

5 AIMS

The aims of the FOY shall be to:

[ref 3]

- 5.1 To promote the vision, mission, and unity of UPCSА.
- 5.2 Empower and encourage the youth to be witnesses of the Gospel of Jesus Christ in the Word and in deed, and promote Christian values in their lives.
- 5.3 Strive for unity within the body of Christ, inter alia, so that resources can be optimised for building the church and missionary outreach.
- 5.4 Encourage the Youth to discover their talents and spiritual gifts, and to pledge these and their resources to building the kingdom of God and uplifting the community through projects related to issues such as Health issues, justice, social equality, poverty alleviation, etc.
- 5.5 Establish structures to ensure effective communication and evaluation.
- 5.6 Engage the Youth at all levels within the UPCSА (congregational, presbyterial and denominational) in planning and executing youth related programmes and activities.

6 LEGAL CONSTITUTION

- 6.1 The Fellowship is constituted as a voluntary association¹ having perpetual succession apart from its members with full capacity in law to acquire, hold, deal with, hypothecate or dispose of property, movable, immovable and incorporeal, to open and operate accounts with any bank or financial institution and to sue and be sued in its own name.
- 6.2 The principal object of each Fellowship in the context of its temporal affairs is to carry on the public benefit activity of the promotion and practice of the Christian faith which encompasses acts of worship, witness, teaching and community service founded on the Fellowship's belief in the one, triune God, Father, Son and Holy Spirit, and to that end the provisions of Annexure A of Chapter Constitution of Fellowships, as contained in the Manual of Faith and Order of the UPCSА hereto, with such amendments as may hereafter be approved by the UPCSА General Assembly from time to time, are incorporated into and form an integral component of the Bylaws.

- 6.2 A Liaison Officer may be either a minister, elder or layperson and shall serve in the same term of office as the executive committee.
- 6.3 Nomination of Liaison Officer's in the case of a Congregation is done by the Youth themselves at the relevant structures, but the appointment is by the Session to Congregation.
- 6.4 If the church council objects to the nomination made by the Youth, it shall give reasons to the relevant Youth structure and refers the matter back to the Youth for consideration.
- 6.5 A Liaison Officer at branch level reports to the congregation Youth structure, at congregation s/he reports to the Session quarterly.

7 DELEGATES:

- 7.1 Be accountable and responsible.
- 7.2 Make your contributions and inputs in and during meetings.
- 7.3 Compile a good report of conference/meeting.
- 7.4 Record decisions of conference/meeting.
- 7.5 Transmit decisions accurately and clearly.
- 7.6 Conduct oneself as good ambassador.
- 7.7 Prepare and circulate report, at least, to Executive members of the appropriate structure being represented.

8 EX-OFFICIO'S

An ex officio, meaning "from the office", is a Member who is part of council by virtue of holding another office.

- 8.1 An Ex-Officio is a supervisor and overseer.
- 8.2 By virtue of their position, an Ex-Officio inherits the role of the Delegates, is influential and can therefore influence the course of events and developments whichever way if Members of the FOY are ignorant of their responsibilities.

8.3 An Ex-Officio inherits responsibilities just as that of Delegates

9 ROLES OF COMMITTEES

9.1 Worship

- 9.1.1 To draw time table for worship services of different kinds
- 9.1.2 To organise Bible studies and quiz
- 9.1.3 To arrange prayer meetings
- 9.1.4 To arrange and prepare visits on sick and bereaved
- 9.1.5 To plan and prepare Youth services as they happen
- 9.1.6 To assist in arranging activities for Children Ministry

- 9.2.1 Anything that needs to be organised, be it from the Executive or other committees
- 9.2.2 Organise any sitting of Congregation/ Presbytery or Convocation with the instructions of the Executive
- 9.2.3 To see to it that all local arrangements are in place at the times of sittings
- 9.2.4 Arrange community outreach programmes
- 9.2.5 Organise educational activities within the FOY
- 9.2.6 Plan and organise entertainment activities
- 9.2.7 To aim at using all forms of activities that have potential of attract Youth in the Church
- 9.2.8 Ensure that meals are available whenever necessary during activities entertainment committees

9.3 Finance Committee

- 9.3.1 To come up with ideas of fund raising and ensure that fundraising activities do take place
- 9.3.2 To plan a programme of fundraising for the FOY, in order to meet all financial obligations
- 9.3.3 To submit the proposed plan for approval and implementation
- 9.3.4 To organise funds for the FOY and monitoring of proposed projects if any.

9.4 Marketing Committee

- 9.4.1 Propose marketing activities that positively promote the FOY and its members
- 9.4.2 Provide input on the development of new promotional material, and assist with initial development of marketing materials as requested.
- 9.4.3 Assist with maintaining the Calendar of Events
- 9.4.4 Manage the Production of all FOY publications, notices and other forms of communication.
- 9.4.5 To input on website development and enhancements of the Youth or a link to the church website
- 9.4.6 Make recommendations, and assist with marketing and member service activities
- 9.4.7 Initiate controls on all Youth assets like (youth badge)
- 9.4.8 Gathering information on leads to assist the Executive in growing the Fellowship.

9.5 Health and Wellness Committee

- 9.5.1 To equip the Youth with skills
- 9.5.2 To promote open debate on issues considered controversial
- 9.5.3 To conduct life skills development and promotion of behaviour change
- 9.5.4 To foster Christian and acceptable values
- 9.5.5 To encourage positive peer pressure

Proposals

1. That the General Assembly receives the report. (T)
2. The General Assembly (M)
 - A. notes the work on developing Fellowships Uniform is underway.
 - B. Endorse the presented artwork for the logos of all Fellowships.
3. The General Assembly endorses the submitted terms of references for the uniform Task team. (M)
4. The General assembly agrees that the appointment of members of the Task Team be effective until the task is done irrespective whether the member is still serving in the fellowship executive committee or not. (M)
5. The General Assembly discourages members of the church in using social media as a platform to critique fellowships. (M)
6. The General Assembly adopts four key areas namely, Evangelism, church in society, spiritual growth and discipleship to be the areas that the fellowships need to focus on and together with the CFC develop strategies that will enable local churches to actively participate. (M)

DOCTRINE

Supplementary Report to the General Assembly 2025

The Ad hoc Task Team on Confessions

This Task Team consults by email and at present consists of the following:

Members: Douglas Bax (convener), Heinrich Asch, Douglas Bower, Eleanor Gaunt, Glynis Goyns and Bonisile Mdyesha.

The Task Team has lost several members during the past two years, as a result of departure overseas, retirement and aging. It needs new members to be appointed to it to replace them and to restore its racial balance.

Introduction to the Report

Two parts of the Confession of Faith have recently come into discussion within the Doctrine Committee and are dealt with in the Report of that Committee to Assembly this year. The two parts are:

A. the Confession's acceptance of three different views of Scripture in footnote 2 attached to Art. 6.4.

The Doctrine Committee in its report this year declares that the three views are incompatible with one another, so that the acceptance of all three in effect divides the UPCSA into three denominations. It argues, therefore, that only one view should be accepted and proposes that this be that Scripture is the verbally infallible (i.e. inerrant) Word of God, in order to reflect "the orthodoxy of our Reformed heritage and our doctrinal sources in the Westminster Confession"; and

B. the Confession's statement in Art. 20 that because God created all human beings in God's image, "everyone has a God-given dignity and a right to be treated with respect and protected from violence and abuse no matter [inter alia] their.....sexual orientation...".

The Doctrine Committee Report proposes the deletion of the last two words.

The Task Team has therefore seen it as necessary to put its other work on hold and focus on these two critical issues in its own report. It regrets that as a result its report has to be in the Supplementary Reports, because its final draft could not be composed before the Doctrine Committee's Report was finalized and made available, which was immediately before the main deadline for reports.

Section A below, under the heading "Different Views of Scripture", sets out and explains the three views of Scripture that the Confession allows, the necessity for this and the critical condition attached to these views, and then briefly identifies three other views that are unacceptable. The Task Team urges the Assembly

(a) not to amend footnote 2 to Art 6.4 as the Doctrine Committee proposes but instead to amend only the last sentence in the footnote, order to clarify it (see the Proposals below); and

(b) to place Section A of the report on the UPCSA website, in order to clarify this part of the Confession and serve as an aid in teaching it.

Section B then follows, under the second main heading, with a defence of the inclusion of the words "sexual orientation" in Art. 20.3.

Section A. Different Views of Scripture

The UPCSA Confession of Faith, Art. 6.4, footnote 2, declares that:

In adopting the Confession, the UPCSA recognizes that its members have different (for some, overlapping) views on the relation between the Word of God and Scripture:

- some fully equate Scripture and the Word of God, regarding it as verbally inspired and infallible;
- some distinguish between the Word of God and Scripture as its inspired and normative but fallible human record and witness;

- some emphasize that the Word of God is strictly Jesus Christ, the living Word, and see Scripture as the normative and authoritative witness to Christ that by the power of the Spirit becomes and is the Word of God in bearing such witness ([Jn. 1:1-18,]² Jn.5:39f., II Cor.3:14-4:6, [Rev. 19:13]).

All, however, confess that Jesus Christ is the living Word of God, and that the Scriptures are inspired by God and have unique authority.

“The Essential Points of Doctrine” likewise summarises what the Confession has to say about Scripture and the Word of God by stating:

Jesus Christ as he is attested to us in the Scriptures ... is the one Word of God whom we have to hear, trust and obey, in life and in death. ... This Word, as revealed and defined by Scripture, which is the sufficient and uniquely authoritative witness to Jesus Christ, is the final rule of faith and life.

The following exposition sets out the background to Article 6 in the Confession and explains footnote 2 more fully.

1. Background: The Reformers

In 1517 Pope Leo X needed more money for the rebuilding of the great basilica, or cathedral, of St Peter in Rome. He therefore promulgated a new indulgence. Indulgences promised release from a period of temporal punishment for sins in Purgatory to all believers who purchased the certificates for them. Papal agents then set out to peddle the certificates. The aggressive peddling by Johann Tetzel near Wittenberg provoked a late medieval monk named Martin Luther to attack the practice of indulgences. Luther had been deeply affected by the Renaissance with its slogan ad fontes (“back to the sources”) and had become professor of biblical theology at the University of Wittenberg. He formulated 95 Theses against indulgences (and the whole principle of selling forgiveness for money) for public debate and, according to tradition, nailed them to the door of the Wittenberg cathedral in October 1517. This marked the start of the Reformation. Pope Leo formally condemned Luther's views in 1520 and excommunicated him in 1521.

From indulgences the dispute moved to the core issue of how a person is reconciled with God, that is, whether one attains a state of righteousness in God’s sight by the grace and mercy of God and one’s own merits or by God’s grace and mercy alone, received through faith alone, sola gratia, sola fide.

These fundamental ‘material’ issues involved the equally fundamental ‘formal’ question: what then is the final authority for the doctrine and teaching of the Church? Is it the Bible and Church tradition (when necessary, defined by the Pope’s pronouncements ex cathedra) or is it the Bible alone? Catholics needed Church tradition and papal authority to be ultimate as well as the Bible because ever since Origen the Church had taught that Scripture had two (later three) hidden meanings besides its plain and literal meaning. Only the skilful use of allegory and typology could discern these deeper hidden meanings, but they were taken to be often more important than the literal meaning. This made the Bible a dangerous book for people to read without a thorough training in theology, so that whereas the early Church had encourage lay people to read it, the medieval Church did not. The Reformers on the other hand accepted only the plain and obvious meaning of Scripture and maintained that for any intelligent believer Scripture thus had perspicuitas, or lucid intelligibility.

Luther himself strongly upheld the authority of Scripture against tradition and the Pope’s decrees, and held that all Church doctrine is to be decided by Scripture alone, sola Scriptura. He has therefore sometimes been assumed to have held an infallibilist view of Scripture, but in fact did not. On the contrary, he wished that Esther had never been written (it did not mention God once, and its ethic was a violent one). In the prefaces he wrote for his translation of the New Testament (first published in 1522) and also specifically for Js. he attributed greater value to some books (namely Jn., Paul's Epistles, especially Rom. Gal. and Eph., I Pet. and I Jn.) than to others: "these," he wrote, "are the books that show Christ to thee and teach everything that is necessary and blessed for thee to know." He questioned the authority of the Epistle to the Hebrews (because in 6:4-8 it denies that those who fall away from the faith can repent and be saved), the Epistle of James (because it does not mention "the Passion, the Resurrection or the Spirit of Christ" and in 2:14-26 fails to set forth clearly that we are saved by grace alone through faith alone), the Epistle of Jude and the Book of Revelation. He even called Js. "a right strawy epistle" whose author must have been a Jew who had heard the gospel bell only from far away. He therefore designated these four books as "disputed" and placed them at the end of the New Testament (where they still stand in modern revisions of Luther's Bible). What for Luther was the ultimate authority was the gospel to which Scripture witnessed and by which Scripture itself was to be judged: namely, that we are put right with God solo Christo, sola gratia, sola fide—as Paul's Letter to the Romans sets forth especially clearly—although Luther agreed that genuine saving faith always issues in good works.

On the Reformed side Huldrych Zwingli took the inspiration of Scripture for granted in the sense that God, or the Holy Spirit, was its author. But his view of inspiration was not mechanical, and his commentaries recognized the human aspect by noting the differences between the Gospels. John Calvin described the prophets and the writers of the New Testament as "speaking by God's impulse" and writing according to "dictation by the Holy Spirit". But he also took the historical contexts of the books of the Bible very seriously and recognized that there were minor discrepancies in the Bible—which he thought did not matter. (See his Harmony of the Gospels.) Moreover, it seems that Calvin was careful not to speak of the text of Scripture as infallible and to speak only of "the infallible teaching" of Scripture. According to James McEwen John Knox was concerned to assert the inspiration, authority and perspicuitas of Scripture, but not its infallibility.³ The Scots Confession (1560), whose main author was Knox, likewise asserted the divine authority of Scripture but not its inerrancy⁴. Heinrich Bullinger in the Second Helvetic Confession (1562) declared "the canonical Scriptures...of both Testaments to be the true Word of God, and to have sufficient authority of themselves, not of men. For God himself spoke to the fathers, prophets, apostles, and still speaks to us through the Holy Scriptures". But he made no claim that the text of Scripture was inerrant.

2. Infallibilism

In time, as the dispute between Catholics and Protestants continued through the 17th and 18th centuries, particularly in response to the Catholic claim that the Pope's declarations ex cathedra were infallible, Calvin's language that the Holy Spirit dictated the words of Scripture was taken more and more literally, and many Protestants attributed infallibility to the text of Scripture. Hence the view of "Protestant orthodoxy", after the initial Reformation, hardened into the "fundamentalist" or infallibilist view that the Bible is a record of what God directly dictated to its writers, so that it is "infallible", or inerrant in every detail.

The classic statement of English-speaking "orthodox" Calvinism is the Westminster Confession of Faith (drawn up by an assembly of Presbyterian and Puritan divines at Westminster in England in 1643-1646 and adopted by the Church of Scotland as its confession in 1647). Ch. I.iv of this declares:

The authority of the Holy Scripture, for which it ought to be believed, and obeyed, depends not upon the testimony of any man, or Church; but wholly upon God (who is truth itself) the author thereof: and therefore it is to be received, because it is the Word of God.... [O]ur full persuasion and assurance of the infallible truth and divine authority thereof, is from the inward work of the Holy Spirit bearing witness by and with the Word in our hearts.

A classic modern statement is The Chicago Statement on Biblical Inerrancy, which more than 200 “evangelical”⁵ leaders at a conference of the International Council on Biblical Inerrancy in Chicago formally approved in October 1978. Its signatories included such well-known names as James Montgomery Boice, John F. MacArthur, J. I. Packer, Francis Schaeffer and R. C. Sproul. (Subsequent conferences in 1982 and 1986 added The Chicago Statement on Biblical Hermeneutics and The Chicago Statement on Biblical Application.)

The 1978 statement claims inerrancy only for the original manuscripts in their original languages, which no longer exist, but whose text “can be ascertained from available manuscripts with great accuracy” (Art. 10). It further claims infallibility and inerrancy not merely for spiritual, religious, or redemptive assertions in the Bible but also for all those in the fields of history and science, including those regarding creation and the Flood. Hence

- Art. 19 declares: “WE DENY that Scripture should be required to fit alien preunderstandings, inconsistent with itself, such as naturalism, evolutionism, scientism, secular humanism, and relativism” and
- Art. 22 declares: “WE DENY that the teachings of Genesis 1-11 are mythical and that scientific hypotheses about earth’s history or the origin of humanity may be invoked to overthrow what Scripture teaches about creation.”⁶

The official commentary then goes on to insist on “the factual nature of the account of the creation of the universe, all living things, the special creation of man, the Fall, and the Flood. These accounts are all factual, that is, they are about space-time events which actually happened as reported in the book of Genesis.”⁷

Wikipedia reports, however, that even from within “evangelicalism”, the Old Testament theologian Peter Enns at the time questioned whether the Statement adequately reflected “the nature of inspiration” and “how the Bible actually behaves”.⁸

The UPCSA Confession in its footnote to Art. 6.4 recognizes this view of Scripture as one that some in its ministry and its membership adhere to and that the Church finds acceptable.

3. ‘The Critical Historical Approach’

A quite different view of Scripture regards Scripture as inspired by God and thus having genuine divine authority but also as having been written by imperfect, indeed sinful, human beings who did not always “hear”, or understand, and record that Word perfectly,

⁵ Evangelisch was first used in Germany as an adjective meaning Lutheran and then, more broadly, Protestant. In the USA and some other English-speaking countries conservative Protestants have claimed the term “evangelicals” to designate themselves.

⁸ Note on II Tim. 3:16: Those who maintain the inerrancy of Scripture sometimes appeal to the claims of the prophets in the Old Testament to be speaking God’s own words, e.g. Am. 1:1ff., Jer. 1:9ff. and Ezk. 2:7ff. See, e.g., J.A Motyer: The Prophecy of Isaiah (Downer’s Grove, Ill., 1993), p.30-33, esp. p.31, n.1. But most often today appeal is made to II Tim. 3:16. Luther’s translation of the Bible, at least in its present revised version, renders this text as alle Schrift, vom Gott eingegeben, ist nütze zur Lehre (“all Scripture, inspired by God, is useful for teaching/doctrine”), and the KJV likewise renders it as “All Scripture is given by inspiration of God”. But some modern infallibilists insist that strictly the Greek word θεόπνευστος in the text means “God-breathed” (NIV) or “breathed out by God” (ESV) because the etymological roots of the Greek word (θεός + πνευστος) mean that. On that basis they argue that in II Tim. 3:16 Scripture itself claims that it is verbally dictated, and so infallible.

The argument is problematic, however. The meaning of a word is often defined most precisely not by the original meaning(s) of the etymological root(s), or parts, out of which it was constructed so much as by the common meaning which it is constructed to mean and so has come actually to have in common speech. To take a simple example: the word “philosophy” was constructed out of the two Greek words φιλία + σοφία, meaning “love” + “of wisdom”; but to pedantically substitute the meaning “love of wisdom” for “philosophy” whenever it occurs in literature would merely confuse and mislead. Likewise the Greek word θεόπνευστος should not be pedantically rendered as the NIV or ESV translate it but instead by its common meaning, which was simply “God-inspired” or “inspired by God” (its translation, e.g., in the RSV and NRSV). Indeed, even if we stick more literally to its root meaning, that is more exactly “breathed into by God”, which exactly parallels the Latin root inspirare = “to breathe into”, from which the English “inspired by God” is derived. See J.N.D. Kelly: The Pastoral Epistles (London: Adam & Charles Black,), ad loc., and cf. II Pet. 1:21.

or infallibly, and in any case wrote what they did within a context influenced to some extent by social and cultural presuppositions—so that it also has a human aspect and some human errors in it.

With the advance of the Renaissance and then in tandem with the increasing trust in human reason as a tool of investigation that developed with the advance of science in the 17th, 18th and 19th centuries scholars began to see the Bible as a historical book that, in order to be better understood, needed to be investigated by the study of its original languages, the history of its text, its nature as literature and the history of its interpretation. From this there developed the “critical historical” approach to Scripture. This approach was so named because it involved “lower/textual criticism”, i.e. the study of the history of the text as such to establish the authentic text, and “higher/literary criticism”, i.e. the study of its literary sources, composition, date and authorship—called “higher” because it builds on the text that “lower criticism” first establishes. This “critical approach” (perhaps more acceptably called in German the wissenschaftliche, or “scientific”, method) does not set out to find mistakes in the Bible, but in seeking to study the Bible objectively, as a collection of human documents, it takes the human aspect of Scripture seriously and is thus inevitably open to recognizing errors in it. Those who hold this view therefore feel bound to recognize such errors for the sake of the truth.⁹

Errors, or problematic aspects of Scripture, so recognized include scientific errors owing to the primitive cosmology of the biblical writers, historical errors, errors of fact, literary slips and even serious moral errors resulting from the acceptance of social and cultural views of the time as the will of God. Examples are the following:

- Cosmology. The geocentric biblical cosmology which finds expression in Gen. 1, Josh., the Pss., Prov., some of the prophets and Job. In this cosmology creation took the form of a massive “firmament” or dome-shaped canopy, or cupola, being “stretched” out (Ps. 104:2, Isa. 42:5, 44:24, 45:12, 51:13, Jer. 10:12, 51:15) to separate the primeval waters above it from those below it, so that the earth could be created in the space between them (Gen. 1:1f., 6f., 20, Job 22:14, 26:10, 38:8-11, Ps. 104:5-9, Prov. 8:27). The earth is thus a flat surface “founded upon the seas”, i.e. the primeval waters (Ps. 104:5), on pillars driven deep down into the watery abyss (Ps. 104:3, Job 38:6). Galileo Galilei famously began to question this cosmology on the basis of his scientific observations that the earth revolved around the sun, but in 1633 the Inquisition forced him to repudiate these observations. The writer of Gen. 1 also thought of the universe as created in six days, each with an evening and a morning, whereas we now know that the universe came into being over many billions of years. This view in Genesis is not just “poetry”; it is a primitive view of the universe natural to pre-scientific human beings and common in the Middle East at the time, but now, of course, scientifically obsolete. (The Bible’s obsolete cosmology does not necessarily mean, however, that the Word of God does not address us in and through Gen. 1ff. See, for instance: Dietrich Bonhoeffer: Creation and Fall. A Theological Exposition of Genesis 1-3, also online, and K. Barth: Church Dogmatics, vol. III/1 and 2.)

On the basis of the geocentric view Josh. 10:12-15 recounts an event that is cosmologically impossible. Even if we substitute a modern cosmology for the one in the text, for the earth’s rotation to have stopped would have caused a cosmic wind that swept both the Amorites and the Israelites, as well as everything else, off the battleground. But, in any case, we need to ask: would God really cause such a cosmic event for the sole purpose of letting Joshua slaughter more of his enemies?

- A Killer God? Is the idea of a God who moves across the land of Egypt killing the firstborn male in every Egyptian household, in order to facilitate the release of his chosen people (Ex. 12:29f.), really compatible with the New Testament portrait of God as a God of love—especially when God, who first hardened Pharaoh’s heart against releasing the Israelites, has the power to change Pharaoh’s heart anyway (Ex. 11:4-10, 12:29f.)?

- The Death Penalty. The Old Testament has a spray of commandments demanding the death penalty for a wide range of offences. They include a child’s hitting or cursing his parent (Ex. 21:15,17, Lev. 20:9 cf. Mk. 7:10), the practice of sorcery or spiritism (Ex. 22:18, Lev. 20:27), sacrificing to any other god than Yahweh (Ex. 22:20, Num. 25:1-5, Deut. 13:12ff., II Chr. 15:12f.), violating the Sabbath (Exod. 31:14, 35:2), adultery or incest (Lev. 20:10-14, Deut. 22:22), premarital sex while still living at home (Dt. 22:13-21), homosexual sex (Lev. 20:13), bestiality (Ex. 22:19, Lev. 20:15f.), cursing or blaspheming God (Lev. 24:10-16), coming near to the tabernacle as a non-Levite (Num. 1:51), and cohabiting with a non-Israelite (Num. 25:6ff., but cf. Ru.). One may argue that it was difficult to order a society that had no prisons, but there were other methods of punishment and at least in some of these cases the death penalty seems far too drastic. For instance, a rebellious son is to be stoned to death at the city gates (Deut. 21:18-21). In any case several modern nations have come to view the death penalty as barbaric and abolished it for all but the most serious crimes or even for all crimes. Indeed, one may argue that it is Christianity itself that has moved, or helped to move, people to this more “humane” attitude. Was/Is this penalty in all these cases then really without qualification God’s will? Jesus himself showed a quite different attitude from that of the scribes and the Pharisees to the law demanding the death penalty in the story of the woman caught in adultery (Jn. 7:53-8:11¹⁰).
- War. Places in the Old Testament like Num. 31 and Deut. 20:10ff. lay down the rules of war that Israel is to follow against other nations. It was to offer any nation that it attacked terms of peace that included subjecting all the men to forced hard labour, i.e. slavery. If the nation rejected the terms, however, and Israel was victorious, then it was to put all the men to death and enjoy all their women, children, cattle and possessions as booty. But if the nation occupied land nearby, then the Israelites were “to leave alive nothing that breathes” and devote everyone and everything to complete destruction as an offering to the LORD. No wonder that such a bitter, murderous attitude against a nation’s enemies could lead to the vengeful vindictiveness of the Psalmist who wrote against the Babylonians who had conquered Judah: “Happy shall he be who requites you with what you have done to us! Happy shall he be who takes your little ones and dashes them against the rocks” (Ps. 137:8-9)! But was all this really what “the LORD your God commanded”?

Likewise can the prophet Samuel’s instruction to King Saul, “Go and smite Amalek, and utterly destroy all that they have; do not spare them, but kill both man and woman, infant and suckling, ox and sheep, camel and ass” (1 Sam. 15:3) truly have been God’s command, as Samuel declared? Was such genocide justified by the Amalekites’ simple refusal a long time before this to allow the Israelite rabble emerging from the desert to invade their land, as Samuel assumes?

Christopher Columbus took Deut. 20:10-13 as laying down what the Lord did command. Appallingly, therefore, when he landed in the Americas, he commanded his men to act towards the native population in the way this text prescribed. Likewise, the Spanish and their conquistadores used Deut. 20 to justify their ruthless conquest of the new world and enslavement of its peoples.¹¹

All this ignored the fact that that Jesus himself directly judged and contradicted the whole tenor of all such passages with his radical call to love our enemies and to pray for those who hate us and do good to them (Matt. 5:38-48, Lk. 6:27f.). And today we would uphold the right to self-defence of any people like the Amalekites facing the threat of invasion and condemn any genocide as a moral atrocity.

¹⁰ This pericope is lacking in the oldest and best MSS of Jn. and must have been inserted into the Gospel after it was written. But scholars accept it as a piece of genuine tradition because it so closely accords with the character and method of Jesus. See the commentaries.

¹¹ B. Gordon: The Bible. A Global History (London: Basic Books, 2024), p.139-141.

- Slavery is a widespread practice taken for granted in the Bible. The only limitation that it places on the purchase of slaves for permanent slavery is that they must come from outside Israel rather than Israel itself (Lev. 25:39-46)! For centuries Scripture provided slavers and slave owners with plenty of material to justify the practice of slavery.

To take an outstanding example, even the great Christian preacher and revivalist George Whitfield owned slaves and declared: "As for the lawfulness of keeping slaves, I have no doubt, since...some...were bought with Abraham's money, and some...were born in his house." After the American state of Georgia abolished slavery in 1751, Whitfield even campaigned for it to be reinstated!

It can be argued that Jesus' attitude of love towards all people, Paul's principle that "There is neither Jew nor Greek, there is neither slave nor free, there is neither male nor female, for you are all one in Christ Jesus" (Gal. 3:28 cf. Col. 3:11) and Paul's desire in Phm. for Onesimus to be set free ultimately point in the direction of the emancipation of slaves. But Paul himself draws no further conclusion from Gal. 3:28 than that all who belong to Christ are offspring of Abraham and heirs of the promise of salvation (v.29), and his wish for Onesimus's emancipation was confined to one individual. Paul—and even Jesus—never directly condemned the institution or practice in general or sought the freedom of other slaves. Of course, it would have been dangerous to campaign publicly for the release of slaves, but so far from calling for any other slaves to be freed, Paul, or the author of Ephesians, admonishes slaves to obey their masters "with fear and trembling, with singleness of heart" and indeed in the same unqualified way as they would obey Christ (Eph. 6:5-8; cf. also Col. 3:22-24)!

The fact remains, then, that the witness of the Bible as a whole in this area is problematic. One of the most problematic examples of this is Ex. 21:7ff., which regards it as acceptable to God for one even to sell one's own daughter into slavery (no sons are mentioned in this regard!). So far from condemning this practice, the text lays down what rules the father is to follow in making the sale!

- Farming and Food. The rules forbidding various foods in the Old Testament and the rationales for this appear so frivolous to us today that we can hardly identify them as seriously expressing the will of God, even under the old covenant. Lev. 11:7f., for instance, forbids the eating of pork because pigs are cloven-hoofed. Lev. 11:10-12 likewise forbids the eating of lobster and shrimp. Lev. 19:19 prohibits the interbreeding of cattle, the planting of two kinds of seed together and the wearing of two kinds of cloth at the same time. Lev.19:26-28 prohibits the eating of meat with any blood in it, the trimming of one's hair or one's beard, and any tattooing. None of these laws even make sense to us as God's laws today.
- Fable? How are we to think of Balaam's talking donkey that could also see angels (Num. 22)? As something that must be historically true because it is in the Bible or as a bit of fable that snuck into the story?
- Contradictions. The Bible also contradicts itself with regard to who slew Goliath: David or Elhanan (cf. I Sam.17:1-54 with II Sam. 21:18-22 and I Chron. 20: 4-8). Did Elhanan actually do the deed, and did the story then migrate to the more famously heroic figure of David, as some scholars suspect?
- The four Gospels also exhibit contradictions. Whereas II Ki. 18:18 says that the father of Eliakim was Hilkiyah, Matt. 1:13 identifies Abiud as the father of Eliakim and Eliakim as the father of Azor, and Lk. 3:30 says that Eliakim's son was Jonam. Likewise Matt. 1:16 identifies the father of Joseph as Jacob the son of Matthan, whereas Lk. 3:23f. identifies him as Heli the son of Matthat. Mk. 1:14-18 states that John the Baptizer was imprisoned before Jesus began his ministry by calling Peter and Andrew at the lakeside to follow him, whereas according to Jn. 1:35ff. John told Andrew, his disciple, who Jesus was, so that Andrew left him and followed Jesus and then fetched Simon

Peter to join him. Jn. 3:24 also says that John was still at liberty and baptizing people after Jesus had begun his mission and travelled to Judea with his disciples. Matt. 8:5ff. reports that the Roman centurion himself came to see Jesus, whereas Lk. 7:2ff. states instead that he sent Jewish elders to meet with Jesus on his behalf. Mk. 1:17-19, Matt.21:12f., and Lk. 19:45-47 all agree in placing the cleansing of the Temple at the end of Jesus' ministry, leading on to his arrest, whereas Jn.2:13-22 places it at the beginning of his ministry. Mk. 14:12, Matt. 26:17 and Lk. 22:8 all agree that the Last Supper was a celebration of the Passover meal, and that Jesus was crucified the next morning (Mk. 15:25 says at 9 a.m.), whereas Jn. 19:14ff. maintains that Jesus was crucified on the day before the Passover, and in the afternoon!

- Slips. In the New Testament Mk. 1:2. makes a straightforward slip, or error, in attributing to Isaiah a quotation that is actually from Mal. 3:1. Some MSS correct this with an alternative reading, but they are later and inferior MSS.
- Another slip in Mk. is in 2:25f. (cf. I Sam. 21:1-6, 22:20). The later Gospels correct the slip by omitting the mention of Abiathar (Matt. 12:4 and Lk. 6:4), but too late to set Mk right. (This was the problem that finally dismantled the infallibilist view of the well-known American scholar, Bart D. Ehrman, Distinguished Professor of Religious Studies at the University of North Carolina.)
- Fashion. In I Cor. 11:1-16 Paul himself confuses what is merely contemporary fashion in his social context with God's immutable will.
- Sexism. Jdg. 19:16ff. tells a story whose ugliness is partly due to an extremely sexist point of view that regards a man as justified in offering up a male guest's concubine and even his own virginal daughter to a rabble to rape, in order to save the guest from rape.
- Eph. 5:22-25, despite v. 21, 25ff., is deeply problematic in demanding that wives submit absolutely to their husbands: "as [they submit] to the Lord" and "as the Church submits to Christ ... in everything"! As such it also contradicts the Apostle Paul's fundamental principle of non-discrimination in Gal. 3:28: "There are no more distinctions between Jew and Greek, slave and free, male and female . . . in Christ Jesus" (Jerusalem Bible). It is especially this passage in Eph. 5 that led the Church to insist that every bride vow to "obey" her husband at her wedding. But, after the centuries-long struggle for women's liberation by the suffragettes and others (often against Bible-quoting believers), feminists today rightly take serious umbrage at this kind of language and the sexism it presumes; and Churches no longer retain that wedding vow!
- Titus 1:5ff. envisages only men, no women, as being allowed to be ministers, and I Tim. 2:11-15 explicitly insists that women should "learn in silence with all submissiveness" and be excluded from teaching or any positions of authority over men (cf. also I Cor. 14:34f.). This was a relapse into the sexism of Middle Eastern culture. A few denominations (including the Roman Church) still today regard these texts in the Pastorals as expressing the immutable Word of God. But early Gnostic groups and later some Anabaptist groups allowed women to preach, and since the 20th century most Protestant Churches have admitted women to ordination. The UPCS, of course, has even elected woman ministers to be Moderators of General Assembly!

In the eyes of those who take a "critical" view of Scripture all such examples belie any claim that the text of Scripture is infallible or inerrant.

This second, or "historical critical", view of Scripture is sometimes expressed by speaking of Scripture as "containing the Word of God". It is to be noted, however, that this language is used even by the Westminster Shorter Catechism in speaking of "The word of God which is contained in the scriptures" (WSC, Qn.3).

4. The 'Neo-orthodox' Approach

Another distinct view of Scripture stresses that, in the most exact sense, it is not Scripture as such but Jesus Christ who is the Word of God (Jn. 1:1f., Rev. 19:13). That is, it is most exactly in the person, work and teaching of Jesus Christ that God reveals himself—which means in the person, work and teaching of Jesus Christ as Scripture (the Old and New Testaments together) bears witness to these.

The Barmen Theological Declaration (1934), the Confessing Church's statement of faith in the Third Reich, is a classic expression of this view. As the first two of its six theses and antitheses put it:

1. Jesus Christ, as he is attested to us in Holy Scripture, is the one Word of God that we have to hear and have to trust and obey in life and in death.

We reject the false doctrine that apart from and besides this one Word of God the Church could and should acknowledge as a source of its proclamation yet other events and powers or figures and truths as God's revelation.

2. As Jesus Christ is God's assurance of the forgiveness of all our sins, in the same way and with the same gravity he is also God's mighty claim upon our whole life. Through him we have received joyful deliverance from the godless fetters of this world to serve his creatures in freedom and gratitude.

We reject the false doctrine that there could be areas of our life in which we would belong not to Jesus Christ but to other lords—areas in which we would not need justification and sanctification through him.

As these two theses and antitheses make clear, the Barmen Declaration itself emphasized the universal sovereignty of Jesus Christ as the one Word of God, i.e. his cosmic reign, or universal Lordship, as the one Word of God over every area of life including the political area (Matt. 28:18-20, Col. 1:15-18, Phil. 2:6-11, Rev. 19:11-16). In particular this was in opposition to Luther's doctrine of the two kingdoms, which opened the way for the Deutsche Glaubensbewegung (German Faith Movement) to support Hitler and the Nazis. (The attempt of the Dutch Reformed Churches in South Africa to find support for the apartheid ideology inside or outside the Bible without reference to Jesus Christ can be called a theologically parallel move to that of the Glaubensbewegung.)

This view is a post-critical one, i.e. one that takes the critical approach to Scripture and thus its fallible human aspect for granted. Scripture (the Old and the New Testaments) is inspired by God to be the necessary and sufficiently reliable witness to Jesus Christ as the Word of God. Nevertheless, revelation is not to be statically located in the inspired propositions of biblical documents, because God's Word is always dynamic and active. Instead that Word us most properly to be located in the event of God's self-disclosure of himself as God incarnate in the person, words and works of Jesus Christ, the Word made flesh, through the work of the Holy Spirit. Nevertheless, when God chooses to speak to us in the power of the Spirit through the words of Scripture, the very words of Scripture become God's Word to us. (Thus Scripture alone, understood in that sense, must govern all the teaching and proclamation of the Church.) But the purpose of Scripture is really to point away from itself to Jesus Christ (Jn. 5:39f.). Indeed, Scripture itself bears witness that Christ is the Centre, and not only the Centre but the Lord and Judge, of Scripture (e.g. Matt. 5:21-48). All Scripture must therefore be judged in the light of Christ himself, i.e. in the light of its witness to Christ. This means that some practices that the Old Testament describes as divinely commanded may be judged as indefensible in the light of the New; indeed it also means that even the New Testament may and must be judged in the light of Christ. For instance, the sexism of the Pastoral Epistles in shutting the door to women in the ministry may be judged in the light of Christ's making Mary Magdalene the first minister of the good news, the apostle to the apostles (Jn. 20:11-18).

(This view is associated most closely with Karl Barth and the so-called 'dialectical', or 'neo-orthodox', theology.)

Three more views of Scripture may be identified that, in contrast to the views above, contradict the Church's Standards of Faith because they do not hold to the final authority of Scripture and so are incompatible with membership in the Church and unacceptable to the Church.

5. The "Liberal" View

Recognition of the "human" element, or errors, in Scripture, of course, carries with it the danger that some people may not take it seriously enough as the Word of God, and tend to see it as a compilation of essentially human religious documents, which teach us about human religious, or spiritual, aspirations and morality. This has led some theologians in the 18th, 19th and early 20th centuries to engage, for instance, in a "quest for the historical Jesus" which has sought to distinguish the authentic historical data about Jesus from the elements that the early Church contributed to the Gospels on the rationalist assumption that the "real" Jesus is qualitatively different from the Christ of faith acknowledged by the early Church as Lord and Saviour. Some have thus ended up with a view of him as a religious pioneer and a supreme ethical example but not literally God incarnate as Scripture and the creeds witness to his being.

6. The Sceptical View

Recognition of the "human" element, or errors, in Scripture may disillusion some people with the Bible even to the extent that they lose sight of its divine aspect altogether, abandon the notion of it as revelatory and become outright humanists or agnostics. Thus for them scepticism replaces faith.

7. The Mythical View

Yet another view is that which accepts that the story of Scripture as a whole or the gospel story or the Resurrection of Jesus in particular is true but only in some symbolic or "mythical" sense and not in any kind of historical¹² sense. This view is also a post-critical point of view: it takes the critical approach to Scripture very much for granted. It may model itself on Plato's use of what he called μύθοι ("myths"), by which he meant stories that were illustrative of truth but not historically true. It has been particularly associated with the philosophical thinking of G.F. Hegel in the 19th century and with the so-called "existentialist" exegesis of Rudolf Bultmann and the "philosophical theology" of Paul Tillich in the 20th.

8. Conclusion

The representatives of the scattered Presbyterian congregations and presbyteries in South Africa came together in 1897 to negotiate and form the Presbyterian Church of South (later Southern) Africa. One of their tasks was to choose the confession of faith to which the PCSA would adhere. The Westminster Confession of the Church of Scotland was an obvious option. But in the end they preferred the confession of the Presbyterian Church of England called The Twenty-Four Articles of the Faith and made that their Church's confession of faith. The Reformed Presbyterian Church in Southern Africa, on the other hand, as a mission Church of the Church of Scotland inherited the Westminster Confession as its confession of faith from its mother Church.

When the UPCSA was formed in 1998/9 it initially adopted both of these confessions as its standards of faith. However, some members of the UPCSA were unhappy with this, in part because allegiance to the Westminster Confession required allegiance to the infallibilist view.¹³ For this reason, the Assembly eventually agreed to mandate the drafting of a new confession, which then came to replace both earlier confessions.

¹² "Historical" is admittedly a problematic word in that it sometimes means demonstrable by the objective criteria that a critical or "scientific" historian uses. In that sense the Resurrection is as such not historical because it cannot be proved to have happened on the basis of historical criteria but needs faith to be believed in. But the Resurrection was historical in the sense of being an event that happened in the course of human history, not just in human imagination, and that is the sense in which the word "historical" is used here.

The fact is that the clergy and members of the UPCSA have different views of Scripture. Clergy who have been trained at Bible colleges may favour the infallibilist view; those who have been trained at university are more likely to favour either the critical historical view or the neo-orthodox view. Lay members in turn are likely to conform to the views that their ministers adopt and teach. The Confession thus declares that all of the first three views outlined above are acceptable, or to be tolerated—with the provision that all three groups are required to believe that God's Word to us in the Bible, or in Jesus Christ as the Old and New Testaments bear witness to him, is the final criterion for the doctrine, preaching and teaching of the Church? The footnote to Art. 6.4 of the Confession therefore recognizes this.

Some members of the Church, however, have expressed the concern that these three views are so essentially incompatible and divergent in their esteem for, and interpretation and application of, Scripture and will thus lead to such differences in doctrinal and ethical convictions and practices that for the UPCSA to tolerate all three together will inevitably and inexorably in the end cause it to break up into separate bodies, or denominations.

Four points need to be made in refutation of this concern:

1. in the first place it needs to be made clear that the UPCSA is not as such propagating three views at once or trying to fuse them together, but instead accepts, or tolerates, within itself three different views held by different ministers and members of the Church;
2. The really critical criterion is not whether or not we believe that the Bible is infallible, or inerrant, but whether we all give our allegiance to the Word of God in Scripture, or in Jesus Christ as Scripture witnesses to him, as the unique and final authority, or authoritative criterion, for all the Church's doctrine, preaching, teaching, theology and ethics;
3. a minister or member who accepts that the Bible has a very human aspect and so has errors in it, but accepts this unique and final authority or criterion is not to be denied the status of a true believer or member—or minister—of the Church;
4. with and within this common understanding the UPCSA is in actual practice holding together in unity, harmony and peace; on the other hand to insist that all the ministers and members of the UPCSA should give their allegiance to a single one of the three views is what would endanger the unity of the Church, simply because those who hold the other views could not do that in good conscience.

Instead of bemoaning our diversity within the proviso, therefore:

1. we should rejoice that we all recognize Scripture as a sufficiently reliable and true record and representation for God to speak his Word to us through it and so to reveal Jesus Christ to us all as our common Lord and Saviour; and
2. we should recognize and be grateful that within the bounds of this proviso, or condition, the unity and peace of the denomination are in actual fact being preserved.

¹³ The other reasons were that the Westminster Confession gives "the civil magistrate", i.e. the civic authority, the right to proceed against deviant opinions and practices (Art. XX.iv) and (somewhat unecumenically for the 21st century) designates the Pope as "that Antichrist, that man of sin, and son of perdition, that exalts himself...against Christ and all that is called God" (Art. XXV.vi).

Section B. The Right of all People to be Treated with Respect and Protected from Violence and Abuse

The Doctrine Committee Report expresses concern about the Single Marriage Act in Parliament and specifically about its proposal to redefine marriage by including same-sex, transgender and polygamous unions. It sees this as increasing pressure on the Church to conform to “secularised views of marriage”, against which the UPCSA needs “to proactively affirm and uphold its biblical and confessional stance on Christian marriage” as “the lifelong covenantal union between one man and one woman”. “The Church should uphold a biblical sexual ethic that recognizes gender as a divine creation of male and female and affirms the sanctity of marriage between one man and one woman (Genesis 1:27; Matthew 19:4-6).” (This is a summary of what the Report itself spells out at great length.)

The Doctrine Report further points out that:

- the General Assembly of the UPCSA has consistently affirmed “this biblical definition of marriage”, and
- most recently the Executive Commission of 2024 reiterated this position, underscoring “the Church’s commitment to uphold orthodox Christian teaching on marriage and the family”.

In this context the Doctrine Report focuses on The UPCSA Confession of Faith, art. 20.3, and The Essential Points of Doctrine, Clause 15. Art. 20 in the Confession is about “The Image of God” and clause 3 in it states:

Because God created all people equally in that image and Christ gave his life to restore it, every person’s life is sacrosanct. Everyone has a God-given dignity and a right to be treated with respect and protected from violence and abuse, no matter their gender, age, race, social status, sexual orientation, religion and despite any mental or physical handicap. God judges those who in any way abuse or oppress others and calls us to oppose such abuse.

Clause 15 in the Essential Points of Doctrine (a summary of the essential items in the Confession) states:

In Christ there is no ground for separation or discrimination between people on grounds of race, colour, social status, gender, age, disability or sexual orientation, either in Church or in State.

Three things should be noted here about this Article in the Confession and this Clause in the Essential Points:

1. The inclusion of the term “sexual orientation” does not, and was not intended to, say anything about sexual activity or behaviour, one way or the other; it refers only to sexual orientation as such, and its concern is the abuse and violence that so many people whose sexual orientation differs from the norm have to suffer.
2. It is now accepted that people do not choose their sexual orientation; a person’s sexual orientation is a given. A statistic that dramatically illustrates this is that after the London blitz in World War II it was found that a significantly higher than normal proportion of pregnant women who had had to seek safety in underground shelters gave birth to children who later turned out to be homosexuals. The mooted medical explanation is that the extra adrenalin their bodies produced in reaction to the anxiety these women experienced caused this effect in the fetuses they were carrying. As the evangelical preacher and writer Tony Campolo puts it, “People can repent of what they do, but they cannot repent of who they are. Being homosexual is not just a bad habit that can be broken. It is an essential part of the identity of some of our brothers and sisters.”¹⁴ Likewise Graham Ingram, who in his book, Out of the Shadows calls himself “a convinced Evangelical; a Bible-believing Christian of the more theologically conservative Calvinistic kind...a pastor and Bible-teacher for more than forty years”, tells the story of how he struggled to suppress and deny his homosexual orientation but in the end was forced to conclude: “I am by sexual orientation gay.... That is part of the total package of who I am.”¹⁵

3. A great many people whose sexual orientation happens to be different from the general norm suffer greatly from prejudice, ostracism, hatred, harassment, humiliation, abuse and violence—and, as a result, depression, which in many cases leads to suicide.

The Doctrine Report itself in fact concedes the first of the above three points. It goes on nevertheless to allege two things

1. It alleges that these clauses in the Confession and the Essential Points have been “misappropriated” by some, for example, in petitioning the Church to permit the blessing of same-sex unions. It also cites the last Executive Commission as having ruled that, “in terms of the articles in question”, church leadership should not be discriminated against on the basis of sexual orientation, suggesting that this is “not a factor to be considered in qualifying for church ministry or leadership roles”.
2. Quite separately, right near the end of its section on this issue in the Confession, the Report alleges indeed that

The unqualified inclusion of the term “sexual orientation” in the Confession of Faith articles relating to the non-discrimination of the gospel gives the impression that the gospel condones every and any form of sexual orientation or expression. The term itself is not explained and is subject to misconstrual and misapprehension.

The Doctrine Report concludes that “to avoid ongoing confusion it is therefore proposed that the term ‘sexual orientation’ be removed from the respective articles of the Manual.”

In answer to these two allegations and the Report’s proposal the following needs to be said:

1. The first allegation itself concedes that the use of the phrase “sexual orientation” that it criticizes depended on a misappropriation of the relevant clauses in the Confession and the Essential Points.
2. The Report cites no evidence at all that the clauses in the Confession and the Essential Articles had anything to do with motivating the petition to permit the blessing of same sex unions. Indeed it cites no actual evidence either from the reports to the Executive Commission or from the minutes or resolutions of the Executive Commission or the debates in it to back up its allegation that these clauses played any part at all in motivating, or in arguing for, the Executive Commission’s rulings that it also criticizes.
3. The Doctrine Report itself concedes that these clauses in the Confession “rightly reflect the biblical injunction that no one is excluded from the gospel call (Gal 3:28)” and the term “sexual orientation” was introduced into these articles “with the intention to emphasize the universal offer of the gospel and its social concern for all people, regardless of their description” and was “not intended to condone homosexual acts”. (As we have already pointed out, the term “sexual orientation” is concerned simply with sexual orientation as such.)
4. The Doctrine Report fudges the distinction between sexual orientation and sexual acts in implying, as it does, that those who are homosexually oriented choose to be so. In fact, as we have pointed out, that is an outdated idea that no longer finds support in psychology, as far as genuine homosexuals are concerned.
5. The Doctrine Report further states that its stance is not to suggest that non-heterosexual people do not have as much right to protection from abuse or violence as any other. Protection of human rights or vulnerable groups is not in question here. This report does not intend a homophobic stance.

¹⁵ G. Ingram: Out of the Shadows, p.5f. See also the earlier book by Paul Germond and Steve de Gruchy: Aliens in the Household of God, Homosexuality and Christian Faith in South Africa (Cape Town: David Philip, 1997).

But this is naïve, because to delete the phrase “sexual orientation” from the clauses in question would declare precisely that non-heterosexual people are not to be included among those who have “a right to protection from abuse or violence”. It is likewise naïve to suggest, as the Doctrine Report does, that a “positive pastoral approach” would in any way mitigate that. The Report adds: “Protection of human rights or vulnerable groups is not in question here.” But this is fatuous, because that is precisely what the articles in the Confession and the Essential Points are concerned with, and thus precisely what the removal of the phrase “sexual orientation” would be perceived to be about.

6. We need to take seriously that we live in a society in which homosexual people suffer continually from a great deal of prejudice, hatred, discrimination, and violence.¹⁶ Do we as Christians then instead want to be like the priest and the Levite who “passed by on the other side” of the road?
7. It would be ironic indeed for a Church Assembly by implication to be denying the right to be protected from violence and abuse to those of a different sexual orientation—especially so soon after the recent assassination of the Muslim imam Muhsin Hendricks, who faced so much danger and so many threats to his own life because he was homosexual and courageously tried to protect other people who were being persecuted for their sexual orientation from abuse and violence.

Section C. Remaining Work

[See the Papers 2019, pp.271f.]

The Task Team still has the following work before it:

- to complete its examination of the arguments for and against the filioque in the Niceaeno-Constantinopolitan Creed;
- to consider the critique of the Apostles’ Creed by the German Reformed theologian, Prof. Jürgen Moltmann, that in it “the earthly life of Jesus is reduced to a mere comma between ‘born’ and ‘suffered’”¹⁷—and what, if anything, can and should be done about this;
- to draft a short introduction to the UPCSAs Confession of Faith;
- to draft a summary version of the UPCSAs Confession of Faith for use by lay, and especially young, people, e.g. in confirmation courses;
- to revise the introductions to some of the various confessions of faith that have been placed on the UPCSAs website, in order to make these introductions more appropriate;
- to revise the old RPC catechism to align it more closely to the Confession of Faith, for use in the UPCSAs; and
- to draft further lessons in accordance with the instruction of the Executive Commission in 2009 to the Confessions Task Team “to draft a course on the basics of the faith for use in preparing young people for believers’ baptism or ‘confirmation’—when it has finished its other work” (Papers, Proceedings and Decisions of the Executive Commission 2009, pp.49, 290).

Proposals

1. The Assembly receives the report. (T)
2. The Assembly instructs the webmaster (M)
 - a) to restore the key text, Jn. 1:1-18, to the beginning of the parenthesis at the end of the third bulleted point in Art. 6.4, footnote 2, in the version of the UPCSAs

¹⁷ J. Moltmann: Wer ist Christus für uns heute? (Gutersloh: Chr. Kaiser, 1994), p.8f.

- Confession of Faith on the UPCSAs website (from which it has somehow inadvertently fallen out);
- b) to add Rev. 19:13 at the end of the same parenthesis (see footnote 1 on the first page of the report); and
 - c) to strengthen the final sentence of the footnote by amending it to read: "All three of these views are permitted within the UPCSAs, provided that those holding them all confess that Jesus Christ is the living Word of God, and that the Scriptures, as the indispensable witness to Jesus Christ, are inspired by God and are the unique, adequate and ultimate authority for all the Church's doctrine, teaching, preaching, theology and ethics.
3. The Assembly (M)
- a) approves Section A of the report on 'Different Views of Scripture';
 - b) reaffirms its acceptance of the three different views of Scripture listed in footnote 2 attached to Art. 6.4 of the UPCSAs Confession of Faith, along with the proviso in the final sentence, as amended; and
 - c) instructs the webmaster to place Section A on 'Different Views of Scripture' on the UPCSAs website as an aid to the better understanding and teaching of this issue in the Confession of Faith.
4. The Assembly reaffirms both (M)
- a) the statement in Art.2 0.3 of the UPCSAs Confession of Faith that:
Because God created all people equally in that image [the image of God] and Christ gave his life to restore it, every person's life is sacrosanct. Everyone has a God-given dignity and a right to be treated with respect and protected from violence and abuse, no matter their gender, age, race, social status, sexual orientation, religion and despite any mental or physical handicap; and
 - b) the parallel summary statement in clause 2 of The Essential Points of Doctrine that:
In Christ there is no ground for separation or discrimination between people on grounds of race, colour, social status, gender, age, disability or sexual orientation, either in Church or in State.

CHURCH IN SOCIETY

Supplementary Report to the General Assembly 2025

GENDER DESK

INTRODUCTION:

The Gender desk is the subcommittee of the Church in Society Committee, meant to address the gender issues within the UPCS. There are times when we are not proactive but react on different matters. There are times when we don't pronounce when we should have. All these are sometimes as a result of lack of human capital and sometimes because of resources.

The Gender Desk works towards levelling the playing fields, it is concerned about the inclusivity of all and the real unity of the church where peace, love, acceptance and recognition of all is practiced. The Manual of Faith and Order assists all the Presbyterians in this regard:

"The Uniting Church affirms its right to formulate, adopt, modify and interpret its doctrinal statements, always subject to the Word of God, under the promised guidance of the Holy Spirit and in accord with the fundamental doctrines of the Christian faith. Of this accord this Church itself shall be the sole judge. This Church recognizes liberty of opinion on all points of doctrine not fundamental to the faith. But it retains the right in every case to judge what falls within this description and to guard against any abuse of this liberty that may injure its witness, unity or peace."

The Gender desk call upon all in the UPCS to watch what we say to each other and how we treat each other, but as human being created by God. We want to remind the church of what we ascribe to as it is legislated in chapter two (2.4) of the Manual of Faith and Order of the UPCS which states that:

The Human Predicament

Human beings were created in the image of God, as creatures little lower than the angels. As the story of Adam and Eve portrays, however, the tragic paradox is that humankind has from the beginning yielded to temptation and turned away from God. Instead of trusting and obeying God we have rebelled against God's holy will. In pride we have aspired to be like God, self-sufficient and autonomous, choosing our own moral laws. Instead of living with and for God, and so also for other, as human beings we have come to live primarily for ourselves. It is God's grace and holiness in Jesus Christ that reveal what sinners we are and how empty before God every human claim to be righteous is. Christ claims the whole of life for God and so reveals how far short of grateful and loving obedience to God we have fallen. That he needed to die for our sins shows how grave sin is. Human society is capable of degrees of justice, and human beings of great altruism, heroism and self-sacrifice. Yet both societies and individuals are also capable also of appalling brutality and degradation. The most just society is radically flawed with injustice, and our noblest deeds and highest virtues with individual or group egoism, pride and self-interest. Group and individual interests distort even how we judge between right and wrong. Sin is a corruption of our very nature; it infects and dominates the whole of human life. In our private and our public lives we fall under the power of evil. We sin individually and collectively. We are proud, self-centred, resentful, lustful, greedy, corrupt; we hurt, exploit, discriminate against and oppress others; we neglect the needy; we sin by commission and by omission. Sin misuses our greatest technological advances, so that instead of caring for the creation we pollute and ruin the environment and deplete the earth's resources, overpopulation spreads hunger and starvation, and modern weapons threaten us all with destruction. Sin warps religion itself with individual and group egoism, self-righteousness and prejudice.

WORK DONE IN 2024/25

The beginning of 2024 was a challenge because of changes in the lives of both the coordinators. We started slow but eventually managed to pick up. The following are the activities that we achieved:

1. Bible Study

We started the year with a series of bible study by one of the Ministers of the UPCSA. The topic we explored was "you are God's masterpiece (Ephesians 2:10). The Bible study was well attended and thanks to those who supported the initiative.

2. 24-hour prayer 2024

Theme: based on Psalm 107:6 "Then they cried out to the Lord in their trouble, and He delivered them from their distress."

This is a program that we embark in every year. All Presbyteries and Fellowships were once more given different slots, praying for different things affecting the UPCSA, the church universal and our societies. The 24-hour prayer always sets the tone the 16 days of activism. We would like to thank the Presbyteries for taking this initiative seriously, taking into consideration the fact that the UPCSA is a praying church.

The Gender desk would like to once again encourage the Presbyteries to participate in this year's 24-hour Prayer. We would also like to plead with the Presbyteries to send suggestions should they wish.

16 DAYS OF ACTIVISM:

This is the program that we are pushing as the desk, but it is most unfortunate that there is not much support and action during this period. We want to change this by encouraging Presbyteries and congregations to send suggestions to the committee on what practical things can be done.

We have been without fail involved in "Thursdays in black campaigns." Every Thursday we join the world in wearing black. We therefore urge the members of our denomination to wear black on Thursdays and send their pictures especially when they are groups to us so that we can post those in the webpage of the denomination.

UPCSA WOMEN CLERGY CONSULTATION:

The Gender desk in May organised a consultation for women Clergy. This was to begin to sensitise women of the oncoming 50 years of Ordination of women in Ministry celebration which will be happening next year. It was meant to feel the pulse of women as we were reflecting on the milestones, and also trying to project the future. It was wonderful to have Ministers of our denomination together reflecting on the journey they have travelled all these 49 years.

It became clear that there are still obstacles women encounter towards ordination and in ordination. There is a strong feeling that women are not treated with the same respect as their counterparts (men) even though they go to same schools to do their theological studies, seat in the same classrooms with the same lecturers, same graduation in the same graduation halls, same probation period, attend same FoV classes, Ordained by the same Presbyteries, celebrate the same sacraments, preach from the same bible but they are still undermined. They feel that they always have to work twice harder than their colleagues.

The UPCSA women Clergy feel and had expressed the need to be a structure not under Church in Society but be under Ministry as they are Ministers recognised by the church. They would like to remind the General Assembly that they are the full members of this beautiful UPCSA ordained, and in good standing.

POLICY DOCUMENTS

SEXUAL HARRASMENT POLICY

The Executive Commission in 2024 sent down this document to all the Presbyteries for consideration. We would like to urge the General Assembly to now take the further step, by enacting this policy in the Manual of Faith and Order. The policy is attached as Annexure A.

PROPOSALS

1. The General Assembly receives the report. (T)
2. The General Assembly encourages Presbyteries and Congregations to participate in the 24-hour prayer and to send their prayer suggestion by the 30th September 2025. (T)

SEXUAL HARASSMENT POLICY OF THE UPCSА

INTRODUCTION AND PURPOSE

The Uniting Presbyterian Church in South African ("hereinafter referred to as the "UPCSА/ the Church") is committed to preventing sexual harassment and sexual misconduct but also addressing it when it occurs. Effective ministry in Christ requires that we maintain an environment in which all persons are respected, treated with dignity and are in a safe environment. The Church will respond to allegations of misconduct with justice and compassion.

It is then the UPCSА's policy that all its church members, officials, ministers, teachers, students, employees, and volunteers working in, with and for the Church, are to maintain the integrity of ministerial, employment, and professional relationships at all times. The UPCSА, prohibits sexual misconduct of any kind and will take appropriate and immediate action in response to complaints or knowledge of violations of this policy. This Policy is part of the UPCSА commitment to a safe church environment for worship, fellowship and programs. This policy prohibits any form of abuse, exploitation or harassment.

THEOLOGICAL FOUNDATION

We believe and affirm every person is created in the image of God (Genesis 1:26-27). By recognizing that all human beings have sacred worth and are created in the image of God, we convey the good news of the gospel and provide an understanding of God. We further believe and affirm that sexual misconduct within the church is incompatible with biblical teachings and ethical standards. Even in the Bible these infamous sexual assault stories are recorded in the Bible with huge consequences on those who commit them. One of these Biblical stories with these bad consequences is the story of Sodom and Gomorrah is evidently one of those where power is abused against those who are powerless and vulnerable (Genesis 18-19). Sexual misconduct is an abuse of power and authority. It alienates persons from the ministry of the church. It tarnishes the church's ministry and mission. Those guilty of sexual misconduct bring real harm to persons, congregations and the church as a whole, as is written in Genesis 34 in the story of rape of Isaac's granddaughter Dinah.

DEFINITION

Sexual Harassment is a form of sexual misconduct that is defined as, "any unwanted sexual comment, advance, or demand, either verbal or physical, that is perceived by the recipient as demeaning, intimidating or coercive. Sexual harassment must be understood as an exploitation of a power relationship rather than an exclusively sexual issue. Sexual harassment includes, but is not limited to, the creation of a hostile or abusive working environment resulting from discrimination on the basis of gender."

To clarify further, it is an unwanted sexual or gender-directed behaviour that is so severe or pervasive that it alters the conditions of employment, volunteer work, or unreasonably interferes with the complainant's performance or worship experience by creating a hostile environment that can include unwanted sexual jokes, repeated advances, touching, displays, or comments that insult, degrade, or sexually exploit women, men, elders, children or youth.

Courteous, mutually respectful, pleasant, non-coercive interactions between leadership, employees and members of the church, including men and women, that are appropriate in the congregation and acceptable to and welcomed by both parties are not considered to be harassment.

TYPES OF SEXUAL HARASSMENT

1. A quid-pro-quo type of harassment - where sexual favours are expected or requested from or offered in exchange for some benefit, or where discrimination or where discipline or sanctions is imposed or threatened if requests for sexual favours are not met. This kind of conduct generally involves a person in a position of authority.

2. Maintaining, condoning, or contributing to an offensive work or worshipping environment which may include, but is not limited to, a variety of unwelcome behaviour (listed below) which may create a hostile or intimidating atmosphere.

Sexual harassment makes a person feel offended, humiliated and/or intimidated. It includes situations where a person is asked to engage in sexual activity as a condition of that person's participation in church-related activities, as well as situations which create an environment that is hostile, intimidating or humiliating for the recipient. Sexual misconduct involves the misuse of authority, power, or influence in a trust relationship to gain advantage over another in an abusive, exploitative, and unjust manner for any purpose, including for personal pleasure. Sexual misconduct takes advantage of the vulnerability of persons who lack power to act on behalf of their own welfare, including children.

a) Unusual and overly friendly attention, including such things as gifts, frequent social telephone calls, letters, private visits, etc.

b) Persistent shadowing or following, repeated or prolonged staring

c) Sexual talk and innuendo, dirty jokes, and offensive gestures.

d) Sexual or intrusive questions about individuals' personal life

e) Use of familiarities or diminutive such as "honey", "baby", "dear", etc.

f) Whistling, catcalls, leering.

g) Unsolicited or unwelcome flirtations, romantic gestures, advances, propositions, manner of dress or display of body.

h) Graphic, degrading, excessive or unwelcome comments about another individual's appearance, dress, or anatomy.

i) Display of sexually suggestive objects or pictures.

j) Explicit descriptions of the employee or worshipper's own sexual experiences.

- k) Unnecessary, unwanted physical contact such as touching, hugging, pinching, patting, kissing.
- l) Verbal and emotional manipulation and control.
- m) Exposing genitalia.
- n) Physical or sexual assault
- o) Sexual intercourse or rape

Note:

Anyone can be a victim of sexual harassment or misconduct, regardless of his or her sex or the sex of the offender. UPCS Church recognises that sexual harassment may also occur between people of the same sex. The primary factor is that the sexual conduct is unwanted and unwelcome by the person against whom the conduct is directed.

UPCS Church recognises that sexual harassment and misconduct often, but not always, results as a result of an imbalance of power within unequal relationships in the church hierarchy. Anyone, including leadership, administrators, employees, members of the church who sexually harasses another or commits sexual misconduct will be reprimanded in accordance with this internal policy.

All sexual harassment or misconduct is prohibited whether it takes place on the premises of UPCS Church or away from the church, including, for example, during social events, community events, trips, worship services away from the church premises, training sessions or conferences. Calls, texts, emails, and social media usage can constitute unlawful harassment, even if they occur away from the UPCS premises, on personal devices or during non-work hours.

Nothing in this Policy should be read to prohibit an individual who is not the alleged offender or victim from reporting sexual harassment, sexual misconduct, verbal, or physical abuse if such violations are observed or made known to that individual.

SCOPE

This policy applies to the following persons in the church working environment and anywhere else as a result of church employment responsibilities or church relationships:

- Paid church employees at all levels
- Church Members
- Volunteers and or lay leaders elected or appointed to the UPCS
- Clients, suppliers, and contractors who are sourced for specific tasks or services by the UPCS
- Visitors to the Church
- All Ministers, Probationers, Elders, Lay Preachers, Deacons, Managers, Children Ministry, Women Ministry, Men Ministry, Teachers, Members in elected and appointed positions, students, or any other person employed or covenanted and representing the UPCS in any way
- Any other person/s who have dealings with the UPCS

STRUCTURE

The General Assembly shall authorize and appoint a Safe Church Compliance Team (hereinafter referred to as SCCT) that will be vested with authority to receive, investigate, make findings and report on complaints arising under this Policy. The SCCT of General Assembly will consist of 7 members – 4 females (2 ministers and 2 elders) and 3 males (2 ministers and 1 elder) and 3 alternates (2 young people (females) and young person (Male)).The General Assembly shall authorize funds to educate and train the SCCT members to fulfil their function.

The General Assembly will review the composition of the Compliance Committee at least bi-annually to ensure competence and effectiveness. These members shall not be appointed by the Nominations Committee of the General Assembly but shall be identified by the Moderator of the General Assembly the Clerk of Assembly the General Secretary Convener of CIS, and both Co-ordinators of the Gender Desk

The members of this team shall all be screened according to the Child Protection Register, as per the Regulation 44, Section 126 of the Children’s Act 38 of 2005 in South Africa.

This is done through the local police station. The UPCSAs (Zimbabwe, Zambia and DRC Congo) are to check their local protocols and legislation in this regard and advise the Gender Desk so that it be inserted in the policy.

The team shall be appointed bi-annually and may be re-appointed for another term.

The SCCT members shall therefore sign a Confidentiality declaration (Attached herein as an annexure).

The Presbytery shall establish SCCT teams at their levels comprising of 3 women (1 minister and 2 elders) and 2 men (1 minister 1 elder) and 2 alternates (1 female youth and 1 male youth), who must also be screened accordingly. These may report directly to that Assembly SCCT through the Presbytery Clerk/Moderator. Presbyteries shall inform all their members of the availability of the Presbytery SCCT.

The Presbytery SCCT will be responsible in dealing with any sexual harassment cases within the Presbytery and congregations in that Presbytery.

All complaints against ministers will be reported directly to the Assembly SCCT who in turn will alert the Moderator of General Assembly of the said allegations, and the Moderator shall prioritise those cases and constantly report the progress made to the SCCT.

Each case shall be reported to the (structure of Assembly acting between Assemblies and to Moderator of General Assembly's) and an annual report shall be submitted to the General Assembly or Executive Commission. The Clerk of Assembly shall retain a copy of the Confidentiality declaration signed by members of the Team both at Assembly and presbytery levels. The work of the team shall be confidential, and they shall not be required to report to Presbyteries other than that they are available at all times to assist in cases of harassment or abuse. In the cases where there are allegations of rape and other brutal abuse, that need referrals or involvement from law enforcement, the Moderator of the General Assembly should be advised by the General Assembly SCCT solely for information purposes.

All complaints shall be treated with respect and in confidence. No complainant will be victimized or face retaliation for reporting any potential violations of this policy in good faith. UPCSAs Members are all encouraged to be truthful at all times when reporting sexual abuse cases.

The General Assembly shall authorize funds to educate and train the SCCT members to fulfil their function.

RETALIATION

Unlawful retaliation can be any action that could discourage someone from coming forward to make or support a sexual harassment claim. Adverse action need not be job-related or occur in the church to constitute unlawful retaliation (e.g., threats of physical violence outside of church or work hours).

Such retaliation is unlawful and will discourage members who:

- made a complaint of sexual harassment, either internally or with any anti-discrimination agency.
- testified or assisted in a proceeding involving sexual harassment.
- opposed sexual harassment by making a verbal or informal complaint, or by simply informing a supervisor, manager or church leader of harassment.
- reported that another employee or volunteer has been sexually harassed; or
- encouraged a fellow employee, church member or volunteer to report harassment.

Even if the alleged harassment does not turn out to rise to the level of a violation of law, the individual is protected from retaliation if the person had a good faith belief that the practices were unlawful.

However, this retaliation provision is not intended to protect persons making intentionally false charges of harassment.

SUPERVISORY RESPONSIBILITIES

All church leaders, office bearers of the church at all levels including fellowships who receive a complaint or information about suspected sexual harassment or observe what may be sexually harassing behaviour or for any reason suspect that sexual harassment is occurring, are mandated to report such suspected sexual harassment to the SCCT, as outlined below. In addition to being subject to discipline, if they engaged in sexually harassing conduct themselves, supervisors and church leaders will be subject to discipline for failing to report suspected sexual harassment or otherwise knowingly allowing sexual harassment to continue. Supervisors and church leaders shall also be subject to discipline for engaging in any retaliation.

COMPLAINT PROCEDURES AND INVESTIGATIVE AUTHORITY

Reports of allegations of sexual harassment or misconduct should never be taken lightly or disregarded. Preventing sexual harassment is everyone's responsibility. UPCSA cannot prevent or remedy sexual harassment unless it has knowledge of such improper actions. Reports of allegations shall be handled confidentially, both before and after they have been submitted to appropriate person(s), as outlined below.

Anyone who is subject to sexual harassment or misconduct, exploitation, physical or verbal abuse should, if possible, inform the alleged offender that the conduct is unwanted and unwelcome. The UPCSA recognises that sexual harassment or misconduct, exploitation, physical or verbal abuse may occur in the context of an imbalance of power as a result of a superior and a subordinate relationship, and that it may not be possible for the victim to inform the alleged offender.

If a victim cannot directly approach an alleged offender, he or she may approach any member of the SCCT to register a complaint. In the alternative a victim may also approach any member within the church leadership, who will then promptly relay the complaint to the SCCT.

When the SCCT receives a complaint under this Policy, whether one of sexual harassment or misconduct, exploitation, physical or verbal abuse, the SCCT will:

- immediately disclose any conflict of interest presented by the particular matter to the SCCT, who will then inform the General Assembly Moderator and Clerk of Assembly who will promptly replace the conflicted member(s) in the particular inquiry from the alternates. The conflicted members shall remain on the SCCT for all other matters)
- As promptly as possible, but in no more than 7 working days of receiving the complaint, the SCCT shall initiate an investigation to determine whether there is a reasonable basis for believing that the alleged violation of this policy occurred.

- immediately record the date(s), time(s) and facts of the incident(s)
- ascertain the views of the complainant as to what outcome he/she wants
- ensure that the complainant understands UPCSA procedures for dealing with the complaint (especially chapter 18 MOFAO when necessary)
- discuss and agree on the next steps: either informal or formal complaint, on the understanding that choosing to resolve the matter informally does not preclude the complainant from pursuing a formal complaint if he/she is not satisfied with the outcome.
- keep a confidential record of all discussions (consent to be sought from the client first)
- respect the choice of the complainant
- bear in mind that the accused is entitled to due process

The SCCT, in its discretion, may seek legal counsel whenever such is deemed prudent to fulfil its duties.

Throughout the complaint procedure, a victim/survivor is entitled to assistance from a counsellor within the UPCSA community. The SCCT, as part of its duties, will identify and engage a sufficient number of counsellors with special training to enable them to assist victims/survivors of sexual harassment or misconduct, exploitation, physical or verbal abuse. UPCSA recognizes that because sexual harassment or misconduct, exploitation, physical and verbal abuse often occurs in unequal relationships, victims often feel that they cannot come forward. UPCSA must understand the need to support victims in making complaints.

INFORMAL COMPLAINT PROCESS

If the complainant chooses to address the matter informally, the SCCT shall:

- give an opportunity to the alleged offender to respond to the complaint

- ensure that the alleged offender understands the complaint process
- facilitate discussion between both parties to achieve an informal resolution which is acceptable to the complainant, unless the supervisory relationship or severity of the allegations indicate that this would be unsafe or unreasonable.
- ensure that a confidential record is kept of what happens
- remind all parties that retaliation is prohibited
- follow up after the outcome of the complaint process to ensure that the behaviour has stopped
- ensure that the above is done speedily once the complaint is made
- bear in mind that the accused is entitled to due process

FORMAL COMPLAINT PROCESS

If the complainant wants to make a formal complaint or if the informal complaint process has not led to a satisfactory outcome for the complainant, the formal complaint process should be utilized to resolve the matter.

When a formal complaint is made, the SCCT shall institute a formal investigation. The SCCT, in its discretion, may deal with the matter internally, or refer the matter to an internal or external investigator.

In carrying out the investigation, the SCCT or the investigator at its direction shall:

- interview the complainant and the alleged offender separately
- interview other relevant third parties separately
- decide whether the complaint is credible and the reasons if they feel it is not credible
- produce a report detailing the steps in the investigation, findings, and any recommendations
- obtain and preserve any tangible evidence bearing on the investigation, such as emails, text messages, voicemail messages, photos, etc.
- if the complaint is found to be credible and that the harassment, misconduct, exploitation, or physical/verbal abuse took place, decide what the appropriate remedy for the complainant is, in the particular circumstance, in consultation with the complainant (e.g. - an apology, a change to working arrangements, training for the offender, discipline, suspension, dismissal, etc.)
- follow up to ensure that the recommendations are implemented, that the behaviour has stopped, and that the victim is satisfied with the outcome
- if it cannot determine that the harassment, misconduct, exploitation, physical or verbal abuse took place, he/she may still make recommendations to ensure proper operations of the church
- keep a record of all actions taken
- ensure that all records concerning the matter are kept confidential
- ensure that the process is pursued thoroughly, but as quickly as possible
- remind all parties that retaliation is prohibited
- report violations of this Policy to the appropriate law enforcement authorities, where warranted
- bear in mind that the accused is entitled to due process

The SCCT should establish a register of offenders which should be kept by the Clerk of Assembly for future reference.

LEGAL PROTECTIONS AND EXTERNAL REMEDIES

Sexual harassment is not only prohibited by the UPCSAs, but it is also prohibited by the law. Aside from the internal process at UPCSAs, employees may also choose to pursue legal remedies with the appropriate governmental entities after all the internal processes have been exhausted.

CHILD ABUSE

In any instance where the SCCT has reasonable cause to believe that a minor is being subjected to abuse, neglect or exploitation, either within the scope of UPCSAs operations or otherwise, the SCCT shall immediately contact the appropriate child welfare authorities, state or local agencies, and refer the matter for their investigation, in addition to taking necessary steps to secure the safety and well-being of the minor(s) in question.

SANCTIONS AND DISCIPLINARY MEASURES

Anyone who has been found to have violated this Policy is subject to any of the following sanctions:

- verbal or written warning
- adverse performance evaluation (if a church employee)
- reduction in wages (if a church employee)
- removal from current position or re-assignment
- demotion from current position
- suspension from position
- suspension from affiliation with UPCSA
- dismissal from affiliation with UPCSA
- personal civil liability
- criminal culpability

The nature of the sanctions will depend on the gravity and extent of the violation(s). Suitable deterrent sanctions will be applied to ensure that incidents of sexual harassment or misconduct, exploitation, physical or verbal abuse are not treated as trivial. Certain serious cases, including physical violence, will result in the immediate dismissal of the offender.

IMPLEMENTATION OF THIS POLICY

The UPCSA will ensure that this policy is widely disseminated to all relevant persons. It will be included in the church policies and procedures. All church leadership, church members, administrators, and staff must be trained on the content of this Policy as part of their induction or continued affiliation with UPCSA and must undergo refresher training at least yearly. All church members and volunteers must be made aware of this policy at regular intervals but at least yearly.

The Accra Confession

Covenanting for Justice in the Economy and the Earth

What is the Accra Confession?

The Accra Confession was adopted by the delegates of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches (WARC) 24th General Council in Accra, Ghana (2004), based on the theological conviction that the economic and environmental injustices of today's global economy require the Reformed family to respond as a matter of faith in the gospel of Jesus Christ. The Accra Confession calls upon Reformed Christians around the world to engage injustices in the world as an integral part of their churches' witness and mission. [See page 2 for a list of North American churches represented.] The full text of the confession begins on page 2.

Why does the church need the Accra Confession?

1. Justice is a matter of faith. The Accra Confession states that matters of economic and environmental justice are not only social, political, and moral issues: they are integral to faith in Jesus Christ and affect the integrity of the church. Being faithful to God's covenant requires that individual Christians and the churches take a stand against current economic and environmental injustices.
2. The unity of the church is critical. Unity is concerned with togetherness, however divisive the issues confronting the confessing body may be. While the complex realities of globalization have not led to a full consensus, the global Reformed family addresses the problematic nature of today's global economy in the Accra Confession.
3. The church stands in solidarity with persons who are suffering and struggling. Following the justice traditions of the biblical prophets and of Jesus in the Gospel narratives, the Accra Confession views the current world (dis)order by "looking through the eyes of powerless and suffering people." It calls the churches and society to hear the cries of the people who suffer and the woundedness of creation itself, over-consumed and undervalued by the current global economy.

The story of the Accra Confession

The Accra Confession is the outcome of a fifteen-year-long process...

- 1989 – At the 1989 World Alliance of Reformed Churches (WARC) General Council in Seoul, Korea, "An Open Letter to the Children and Young People of the Planet" called upon WARC member churches to enter into a covenant for justice given "the threats to life in our age, for the sake of the whole creation, the future of all humanity and especially for the children and young people of the planet."
- 1995 – The call was intensified in 1995 when the African churches at a consultation in Kitwe, Zambia, suggested to the Alliance that the current global economy be declared as antithetical to the Christian faith in a manner similar to the confessing churches' historical stances against Nazism and apartheid.
- 1997 – The 1997 WARC General Council in Debrecen, Hungary, called WARC member churches to engage in "a committed process of recognition, education, and confession regarding economic injustice and ecological destruction." The process later became known as Covenanting for Justice in the Economy and the Earth and was implemented in the various regions of the world in partnership with the World Council of Churches and the Lutheran World Federation.
- 2004 – The 2004 General Council at Accra, Ghana, was a culminating point of the Covenanting for Justice in the Economy and the Earth process. The churches from the global South in particular challenged the Reformed family at Accra, asking how long they would have to wait for a unified confession of faith against the harm done within the current global economy. While some of the churches from the global North were not willing to take a doctrinal confessional stance, in the end there was consensus regarding the problematic nature of today's global economy and the injustices it produces. Hence, the assembly reached a decision to respond in a confessional manner, that is, to take a faith stance regarding current global economic injustices and ecological destruction.

Though not a doctrinal confession like the Heidelberg Catechism or Westminster Confession, the Accra Confession challenges current economic doctrines with the traditional Reformed criticism of idols (i.e., Mammon, consumerism, the financial and speculative markets) that deny God's life-giving sovereignty and defy God's covenant by excluding the poor, the vulnerable, and the whole of Creation from the fullness of life.

What is the World Alliance of Reformed Churches?

WARC is a worldwide movement working together for unity and fullness of life for all, both within the member churches themselves and in the wider context of a world that cries out for justice. A fellowship of 75 million Reformed Christians in 214 churches in 107 countries, WARC member churches are Congregational, Presbyterian, Reformed, United, and Waldensian churches with roots in the 16th-century Reformation led by John Calvin, John Knox, and others. WARC has a small secretariat in Geneva, Switzerland, and regional councils in Africa, Asia, Latin America, and North America.

The Accra Confession

Introduction

1. In response to the urgent call of the Southern African constituency which met in Kitwe in 1995 and in recognition of the increasing urgency of global economic injustice and ecological destruction, the 23rd General Council (Debrecen, Hungary, 1997) invited the member churches of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches to enter into a process of "recognition, education, and confession (processus confessionis)." The churches reflected on the text of Isaiah 58.6 "...break the chains of oppression and the yoke of injustice, and let the oppressed go free", as they heard the cries of brothers and sisters around the world and witnessed God's gift of creation under threat.
2. Since then, nine member churches have committed themselves to a faith stance; some are in the process of covenanting; and others have studied the issues and come to a recognition of the depth of the crisis. Further, in partnership with the World Council of Churches, the Lutheran World Federation and regional ecumenical organizations, the World Alliance of Reformed Churches has engaged in consultations in all regions of the world, from Seoul/Bangkok (1999) to Stony Point (2004). Additional consultations took place with churches from the South in Buenos Aires (2003) and with churches from South and North in London Colney (2004).
3. Gathered in Accra, Ghana, for the General Council of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches, we visited the slave dungeons of Elmina and Cape Coast where millions of Africans were commodified, sold and subjected to the horrors of repression and death. The cries of "never again" are put to the lie by the ongoing realities of human trafficking and the oppression of the global economic system.
4. Today we come to take a decision of faith commitment.

Reading the signs of the times

5. We have heard that creation continues to groan, in bondage, waiting for its liberation (Rom 8.22). We are challenged by the cries of the people who suffer and by the woundedness of creation itself. We see a dramatic convergence between the suffering of the people and the damage done to the rest of creation.
6. The signs of the times have become more alarming and must be interpreted. The root causes of massive threats

- to life are above all the product of an unjust economic system defended and protected by political and military might. Economic systems are a matter of life or death.
7. We live in a scandalous world that denies God's call to life for all. The annual income of the richest 1 per cent is equal to that of the poorest 57 per cent, and 24,000 people die each day from poverty and malnutrition. The debt of poor countries continues to increase despite paying back their original borrowing many times over. Resource-driven wars claim the lives of millions, while millions more die of preventable diseases. The HIV and AIDS global pandemic afflicts life in all parts of the world, affecting the poorest where generic drugs are not available. The majority of those in poverty are women and children and the number of people living in absolute poverty on less than one US dollar per day continues to increase.
 8. The policy of unlimited growth among industrialized countries and the drive for profit of transnational corporations have plundered the earth and severely damaged the environment. In 1989, one species disappeared each day and by 2000 it was one every hour. Climate change, the depletion of fish stocks, deforestation, soil erosion, and threats to fresh water are among the devastating consequences. Communities are disrupted, livelihoods are lost, coastal regions and Pacific islands are threatened with inundation, and storms increase. High levels of radioactivity threaten health and ecology. Life forms and cultural knowledge are being patented for financial gain.
 9. This crisis is directly related to the development of neoliberal economic globalization, which is based on the following beliefs:
 - unrestrained competition, consumerism and the unlimited economic growth and accumulation of wealth are the best for the whole world;
 - the ownership of private property has no social obligation;
 - capital speculation, liberalization and deregulation of the market, privatization of public utilities and national resources, unrestricted access for foreign investments and imports, lower taxes and the unrestricted movement of capital will achieve wealth for all;
 - social obligations, protection of the poor and the weak, trade unions, and relationships between people are subordinate to the processes of economic growth and capital accumulation.
 10. This is an ideology that claims to be without alternative, demanding an endless flow of sacrifices from the poor and creation. It makes the false promise that it can save the world through the creation of wealth and - prosperity, claiming sovereignty over life and demanding total allegiance which amounts to idolatry.

11. We recognize the enormity and complexity of the situation. We do not seek simple answers. As seekers of truth and justice and looking through the eyes of powerless and suffering people, we see that the current world (dis)order is rooted in an extremely complex and immoral economic system defended by empire. In using the term "empire" we mean the coming together of economic, cultural, political and military power that constitutes a system of domination led by powerful nations to protect and defend their own interests.
 12. In classical liberal economics, the state exists to protect private property and contracts in the competitive market. Through the struggles of the labour movement, states began to regulate markets and provide for the welfare of people. Since the 1980s, through the transnationalization of capital, neoliberalism has set out to dismantle the welfare functions of the state. Under neoliberalism the purpose of the economy is to increase profits and return for the owners of production and financial capital, while excluding the majority of the people and treating nature as a commodity.
 13. As markets have become global so have the political and legal institutions which protect them. The government of the United States of America and its allies, together with international finance and trade institutions (International Monetary Fund, World Bank, World Trade Organization) use political, economic or military alliances to protect and advance the interest of capital owners.
 14. We see the dramatic convergence of the economic crisis with the integration of economic globalization and geopolitics backed by neoliberal ideology. This is a global system that defends and protects the interests of the powerful. It affects and captivates us all. Further, in biblical terms such a system of wealth accumulation at the expense of the poor is seen as unfaithful to God and responsible for preventable human suffering and is called Mammon. Jesus has told us that we cannot serve both God and Mammon (Lk 16.13).

Confession of faith in the face of economic injustice and ecological destruction

15. Faith commitment may be expressed in various ways according to regional and theological traditions: as confession, as confessing together, as faith stance, as being faithful to the covenant of God. We choose confession,

- not meaning a classical doctrinal confession, because the World Alliance of Reformed Churches cannot make such a confession, but to show the necessity and urgency of an active response to the challenges of our time and the call of Debreccen. We invite member churches to receive and respond to our common witness.
16. Speaking from our Reformed tradition and having read the signs of the times, the General Council of the World Alliance of Reformed Churches affirms that global economic justice is essential to the integrity of our faith in God and our discipleship as Christians. We believe that the integrity of our faith is at stake if we remain silent or refuse to act in the face of the current system of neoliberal economic globalization and therefore we confess before God and one another.
 17. We believe in God, Creator and Sustainer of all life, who calls us as partners in the creation and redemption of the world. We live under the promise that Jesus Christ came so that all might have life in fullness (Jn 10.10). Guided and upheld by the Holy Spirit we open ourselves to the reality of our world.
 18. We believe that God is sovereign over all creation. “The earth is the Lord’s and the fullness thereof” (Ps 24.1).
 19. Therefore, we reject the current world economic order imposed by global neoliberal capitalism and any other economic system, including absolute planned economies, which defy God’s covenant by excluding the poor, the vulnerable and the whole of creation from the fullness of life. We reject any claim of economic, political and military empire which subverts God’s sovereignty over life and acts contrary to God’s just rule.
 20. We believe that God has made a covenant with all of creation (Gen 9.8-12). God has brought into being an earth community based on the vision of justice and peace. The covenant is a gift of grace that is not for sale in the market place (Is 55.1). It is an economy of grace for the household of all of creation. Jesus shows that this is an inclusive covenant in which the poor and marginalized are preferential partners and calls us to put justice for the “least of these” (Mt 25.40) at the centre of the community of life. All creation is blessed and included in this covenant (Hos 2.18ff).
 21. Therefore we reject the culture of rampant consumerism and the competitive greed and selfishness of the neoliberal global market system or any other system which claims there is no alternative.
 22. We believe that any economy of the household of life given to us by God’s covenant to sustain life is accountable to God. We believe the economy exists to serve the dignity and wellbeing of people in community, within the bounds of the sustainability of creation. We believe that human beings are called to choose God over Mammon and that confessing our faith is an act of obedience.
 23. Therefore we reject the unregulated accumulation of wealth and limitless growth that has already cost the lives of millions and destroyed much of God’s creation.
 24. We believe that God is a God of justice. In a world of corruption, exploitation and greed, God is in a special way the God of the destitute, the poor, the exploited, the wronged and the abused (Ps 146.7-9). God calls for just relationships with all creation.
 25. Therefore we reject any ideology or economic regime that puts profits before people, does not care for all creation and privatizes those gifts of God meant for all. We reject any teaching which justifies those who support, or fail to resist, such an ideology in the name of the gospel.
 26. We believe that God calls us to stand with those who are victims of injustice. We know what the Lord requires of us: to do justice, love kindness, and walk in God’s way (Mic 6.8). We are called to stand against any form of injustice in the economy and the destruction of the environment, “so that justice may roll down like waters, and righteousness like an ever-flowing stream” (Am 5.24).
 27. Therefore we reject any theology that claims that God is only with the rich and that poverty is the fault of the poor. We reject any form of injustice which destroys right relations—gender, race, class, disability, or caste. We reject any theology which affirms that human interests dominate nature.
 28. We believe that God calls us to hear the cries of the poor and the groaning of creation and to follow the public mission of Jesus Christ who came so that all may have life and have it in fullness (Jn 10.10). Jesus brings justice to the oppressed and gives bread to the hungry; he frees the prisoner and restores sight to the blind (Lk 4.18); he supports and protects the down-trodden, the stranger, the orphans and the widows.
 29. Therefore we reject any church practice or teaching which excludes the poor and care for creation, in its mission; giving comfort to those who come to “steal, kill and destroy” (Jn 10.10) rather than following the “Good Shepherd” who has come for life for all (Jn 10.11).
 30. We believe that God calls men, women and children from every place together, rich and poor, to uphold the unity of the church and its mission so that the reconciliation to which Christ calls can become visible.

31. Therefore we reject any attempt in the life of the church to separate justice and unity.
32. We believe that we are called in the Spirit to account for the hope that is within us through Jesus Christ and believe that justice shall prevail and peace shall reign.
33. We commit ourselves to seek a global covenant for justice in the economy and the earth in the household of God.
34. We humbly confess this hope, knowing that we, too, stand under the judgment of God's justice.
 - We acknowledge the complicity and guilt of those who consciously or unconsciously benefit from the current neoliberal economic global system; we recognize that this includes both churches and members of our own Reformed family and therefore we call for confession of sin.
 - We acknowledge that we have become captivated by the culture of consumerism and the competitive greed and selfishness of the current economic system. This has all too often permeated our very spirituality.
 - We confess our sin in misusing creation and failing to play our role as stewards and companions of nature.
 - We confess our sin that our disunity within the Reformed family has impaired our ability to serve God's mission in fullness.
35. We believe in obedience to Jesus Christ, that the church is called to confess, witness and act, even though the authorities and human law might forbid them, and punishment and suffering be the consequence (Acts 4.18ff). Jesus is Lord.
36. We join in praise to God, Creator, Redeemer, Spirit, who has "brought down the mighty from their thrones, lifted up the lowly, filled the hungry with good things and sent the rich away with empty hands" (Lk 1.52f).

Covenanting for Justice

37. By confessing our faith together, we covenant in obedience to God's will as an act of faithfulness in mutual solidarity and in accountable relationships. This binds us together to work for justice in the economy and the earth both in our common global context as well as our various regional and local settings.
38. On this common journey, some churches have already expressed their commitment in a confession of faith. We urge them to continue to translate this confession into concrete actions both regionally and locally. Other churches have already begun to engage in this process, including taking actions and we urge them to engage further, through education, confession and action. To those other churches, which are still in the process of recognition, we urge them on the basis of our mutual covenanting accountability, to deepen their education and move forward towards confession.

39. The General Council calls upon member churches, on the basis of this covenanting relationship, to undertake the difficult and prophetic task of interpreting this confession to their local congregations.
40. The General Council urges member churches to implement this confession by following up the Public Issues Committee's recommendations on economic justice and ecological issues (see Appendix 18).
41. The General Council commits the World Alliance of Reformed Churches to work together with other communions, the ecumenical community, the community of other faiths, civil movements and people's movements for a just economy and the integrity of creation and calls upon our member churches to do the same.
42. Now we proclaim with passion that we will commit ourselves, our time and our energy to changing, renewing and restoring the economy and the earth, choosing life, so that we and our descendants might live (Deut 30.19).

Terms used in the Accra Confession

Capital speculation – The buying, holding, and selling of stocks, bonds, commodities, currencies, collectibles, real estate, derivatives, or any valuable financial instrument to profit from fluctuations in its price as opposed to buying it for income or for use.

Commodification – Turning what is normally a non-commodity into a commodity. Assigning economic value to something that traditionally would not be considered in economic terms, for example, persons valued only according to the work they are able and/or forced to do, or nature valued only according to its consumer use-value.

Complicity – Association or participation in a wrongful or unjust act or system.

Deregulation – The process by which governments remove, reduce, or simplify restrictions on business and individuals with the intent of encouraging the efficient operation of markets. Regulations that provided protections to low-income people, farmers, local businesses, the environment, or other groups are often lost after deregulation.

Domination – Having unjustified control or power over persons, things, or nature. A totalitarian regime, for example, seeks to unjustifiably enforce political domination over its citizens.

Empire – The convergence of economic, political, cultural, geographic, and military imperial interests, systems, and networks for the purpose of amassing political power and economic wealth. Empire typically forces and facilitates the flow of wealth and power from vulnerable persons, communities, and countries to the more powerful. The Bible is full of stories of empires rising, over-extending, and falling. Empire today crosses all boundaries, strips and reconstructs identities, subverts cultures, subordinates nation states, and can marginalize or co-opt religious communities.

Human trafficking – The recruitment, transportation, transfer, harboring or receipt of people for the purpose of making money. Trafficking involves a process of using illicit means such as threat, use of force, or other forms of coercion, of abduction, of fraud, of deception, of the abuse of power or of a position of vulnerability.

Ideology – An ideology can be thought of as a comprehensive vision, a “lens” or “filter” through which the world is viewed, and/or as a set of ideas proposed by the dominant class of a society to its members. The purpose of an ideology is to promote a particular social, economic, or political model through a certain way of thinking about and understanding the world.

International Monetary Fund (IMF) – The international organization entrusted with overseeing the global financial system by monitoring exchange rates and balance of payments, as well as offering technical and financial assistance when asked. Many IMF policies have proven to be destructive of the people and economies of countries in the global South.

World Bank – Part of a group of financial institutions, the World Bank focuses on the reduction of global poverty and seeks to achieve this through the provision of low- or no-interest loans and grants to countries with little or no access to international credit markets. The World Bank (as a financial institution) also seeks to safeguard its own financial interests and has been criticized by non-governmental organizations (NGOs), governments, people’s groups, and citizens for its structural adjustment programs (SAPs) which attempt to implement neo-liberal economic policies (i.e., deregulation and privatization) in the countries where the World Bank operates.

World Trade Organization (WTO) – The successor to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (GATT), the WTO deals with the rules of trade between nations at a near-global level; it is responsible for negotiating and implementing new trade agreements, and is in charge of policing member countries’ adherence to all the WTO agreements, signed by the bulk of the world’s trading nations and ratified in their parliaments. The structure of the WTO allows the interests of the major industrialized countries of the global North to dominate the processes and agreements.

Liberalization – Liberalization is a relaxation of previous government regulations and protections which often occurs along with privatization. Liberalized and privatized public services may be dominated by just a few big companies, particularly in sectors with high capital costs, or high sunk cost, such as water, gas and electricity.

Neoliberalism/Neoliberal economics – In its dominant international use, neoliberalism refers to a political-economic philosophy that de-emphasizes or rejects government or other intervention in the economy; it would allow the market to operate without restraints or protections. In the U.S. and Canadian contexts neoliberal economics is more aligned with conservative and neoconservative political views than with liberal ones. Neoliberal economics focuses on free-market methods, fewer restrictions on business operations, and property rights, rather than human rights. It promotes the market as the primary engine of human economic activity, emphasizing competition and growth, and upholding individual self-interest over the common good. Neoliberal economic policies include privatization of services such as education, water, and health care; deregulation which often results in reduced rights and protections for workers and the environment; reductions in government spending on social programs, such as education, and erosions in the safety net for the poor; the free flow of investments, products, and jobs (but typically not persons) across national borders without restraint; and increased trade.

Oppression – The negative outcome experienced by persons who are marginalized or dominated by those in power in a particular society or social group. Oppression is primarily used to describe how a certain group is being kept down by unjust use of force, authority, or societal norms; the term itself is derived from the notion of being “weighted down.” Oppression is most commonly felt and expressed by a widespread, if unconscious, assumption that a certain group of people are inferior (i.e., persons of color or women). The Biblical prophets and Jesus preach frequently about bringing justice to the oppressed as integral to faith in God.

Privatization – The process of transforming property, businesses or natural resources (e.g., water) from public ownership or trust to private ownership and/or transferring the management of a service or activity from the government to the private sector. Corporate profits, not the good of the community or country, become the overriding concern.

Using the Accra Confession with your congregation

- Read the Accra Confession together and, at the end of a section or the document, look up some of the Bible verses and discuss the ones that are most applicable to your local (or regional) economic context. Which ones do you see as applicable to the current global economic context? What Bible stories related to economic justice are missing in the Accra Confession?
- The Accra Confession is a faith statement that commits churches to “covenant in obedience to God’s will as an act of faithfulness in mutual solidarity and in accountable relationships.” This covenant “binds us together to work for justice in the economy and the earth both in our common global context as well as our various regional and local settings. In what ministries of economic and environmental justice-making are your congregation and/or community groups presently engaged? What are some of the economic or environmental injustices that your community or neighboring communities face?

- In the Bible, Jesus teaches us that that we cannot serve God and Mammon (Lk 16:13). The Accra Confession calls us to reject today’s culture of rampant consumerism based on our faith in God. Name some examples of consumerism that you see in your daily lives and in the world. How does consumerism keep you from fully loving yourself, others, and God and from caring for Creation? How might consumerism contribute to the suffering of other persons and creation?
- Numbers 17-36 of the Accra Confession are written in liturgical confessional form. Are there ways in which such statements of confession, belief, commitment, and praise might be incorporated into your congregation’s worship? The liturgy from the Trade Week of Action Resource may be helpful in putting together the worship service; go to www.tradeweek.org/typo3/en/worship.html.

RETIRING MODERATOR'S ADDRESS

Saturday, 28th June 2025

The Rev Lydia C Neshangwe

Sermon: LET'S START A FIRE

Psalm 127:1-2

Luke 11:14-20

Romans 15:5-7

PARABLE: "The church of God today is like a woman who wanted to start a fire. Set out to find some firewood. Three characteristics of the firewood..."

1. DRY

- Aka seasoned. Up to 6 months drying time. Why?
- Wet wood difficult to ignite ~ 'Seasoned' Word of God.
- Efficient burning – maximum heat
- Clean burning
- Reduced emissions; less smoke; less creosote (soot)
- Without sparking or spitting

2. DIVERSE

- Diverse in shape, length, thickness, colour
- For diverse purposes: kindling, thin pieces, logs, kindling...
- Gaps; not one solid piece
- Diverse cultures, histories, ages, social... RECOGNIZE this.

3. ALIGNED

- Into a bundle
- We/church come as a "bundle." Like a Vodacom bundle.
- Not leaving anyone behind. We are enlisted by God.
- Wild wood will cause harm and is unusable
- Breaking and pruning is needed for bundling/alignment/parallel.
- This pruning by God is already happening among us.
- Goal: Teachable!

Obstacles to Alignment:

- a) Inequalities. Privileges. CORRECTIONS – Acknowledge & Correct. Selective justice...
"Justice out there vs justice right here." Global...
- b) Victimhood. Badges of honour. CORRECTIONS – Heal. Axe! Pain ~ Purpose.
- c) "Polarization" M.O. Win/lose mentality. CORRECTIONS – Re-set mind.

CORRECTIONS are necessary, otherwise bundling is impossible.

4. THEN WE BECOME UNBREAKABLE AS A BUNDLE

- God ties us together
- With the common purpose rope.
- God balances us and takes us where we should be.
- Breakable when alone – unbreakable when tied together.
- "Stronger together"

STRONGER TOGETHER! For what?

For unholy purposes? e.g., destructive veld fires, gangs of thieves?

STRONGER TOGETHER TO START A FIRE!

- Revival fire, renewal fire, refining fire
 - ✓ To give light to the world (that's evangelism)
 - ✓ To give warmth to the world (that's social connection)

- "The main thing is to let the main thing remain the main thing." The main thing is "to know Christ and to let Christ be known."
- Meaning our spirituality – the one factor that sets us apart from business, politics, law, academia etc.
- Spirituality: the game-changer for the UPCSA's relationships, finances, evangelism, social justice etc.

THE WORD OF GOD

- Psalmist: "Unless the Lord builds the house..."
- Jesus: "House divided will fall; kingdom divided will be ruined."
- Paul: "One mind, one voice" to "Glorify God"

Let's start a fire! It's not our fire – it's God's!

Retiring Moderator - Rev Lydia C Neshangwe

MODERATOR'S ADDRESS

Sunday, 29th June 2025

The Rt Rev Dr Amon Kasambala

Opening Remarks

The Immediate past Moderator of the General Assembly, the Rev Lydia Neshangwe.

All Past Moderators of the General Assembly present

Distinguished Guests

Synod & Presbytery Officials and all General Assembly Commissioners

Emeriti Ministers

Invited Guests, Fraternal delegates from Sister Churches and Organizations, Ladies and Gentlemen Brothers and Sisters in Christ, and indeed, Fellow Presbyterians.

Introduction

When we gather like this, we are reminded of the biblical text in Hebrews 12:1 "Therefore, we are surrounded by such a great cloud of witnesses" acknowledging that there are those that have gone before us to heaven, those who died holding on to their Faith in Christ for whom at an occasion like this, at a service like this one, would surround us as crowd of witnesses together with the heavenly hosts, cheering us to continue with the faith. We are not only surrounded by them, but we also stand on their leadership shoulders as we continue to lead the Lord's Church into the future. We are also surrounded by those who have faithfully continued to pray for our gathering this morning and for the General Assembly meetings this week – they may not be here physically, but we can feel their prayers.

Today, we are reminded of the great leaders of our denomination who would have loved to be here with us this morning but have been called home to be with the Lord – some of our faithful Ministers and Elders, some of our fellowship members – committed Presbyterians, men and women – such we salute with respect and honour.

We are gathered in a town where history was made – a town that provided us with one of the greatest sons of Africa, a freedom fighter and a man of peace, Ntate late Madiba Nelson Mandela – May he continue to rest in peace. And also a town that, in the past two weeks, experienced devastating floods. We stand with those that have lost their beloved ones and have lost properties. May the good Lord continue to comfort you and to provide for you during these difficult times. It is worthy sharing at this point that most of our Presbyterian congregations have collected stuff which they will donate to the most affected families in Mthatha. Our Central Office will coordinate with the help of the local Synod and Presbytery here in Mthatha to make sure that what has been donated goes to those in need.

We salute our hosts, the Synod of JH Soga Memorial and the Presbytery of Mthatha.

A Personal Journey

Thank you for electing me as the Moderator of the General Assembly of the UPCSA. To borrow from the words of St Augustine of Hippo, a great Theologian and Philosopher "For you today, my brothers and sisters, I am a Moderator of the General Assembly but with you I am your fellow Christian brother" While I acknowledge the responsibilities that this office brings, at the same time, I do not lose my sense of need for grace as a Christian.

Today marks a journey that started when I was a young Christian youth in the Presbyterian Church in Kitwe Zambia. Firstly, a journey that was shaped by both my father and mother who became staunch Presbyterians – and hosted a number of young Ministers who visited our Wusakile Congregation during their practical ministry slots. My father, who is now late, later on went to tell me that I would become a leader in the Church and in my professional career. Those words have still remained with me to this day as I have seen myself taking up leadership responsibilities spanning over 30 years. And my mother, who is now 82 years old, remains a faithful Presbyterian Christian and has continued to pray for me and for my family. I am forever grateful to them.

Secondly, this journey was also shaped by people who came into my life when I was still a young youth at Wusakile Church in Kitwe. The reason why Prof Maake Masango and the Rev Dr Robert Munthali were called upon to bring me into the Church for induction yesterday was simply because of the journey that we have shared together. Prof Masango was the first Presbyterian Minister to inspire hope in young people like me at a time none of us, teenagers, ever dreamt of becoming Ministers. We were convinced ministry was for older and very tired people! – And we chose rather to pray for them. By then, the much younger looking and vibrant Prof Masango at that time stirred something in us we could not resist. And his inspirational messages during youth camps gave us a different perspective on Ministry as young people. I am grateful to him and his wife Aunty Pauline. During the same time, the Rev Dr Robert Munthali was a fellow youth and prayer partner – we used to meet to pray for the Presbyterian Church and little did we know that one day, in God's time, we will serve as Ordained Ministers in the same Church we innocently prayed for. Him and his dear wife Balekeni, who later became a fellow member of my youth at Kawata Presbyterian Church, have remained close friends. And to Dr Munthali, the rest is history, and now, here we are close to 43 years, still standing by the grace of God in the Church our parents loved most.

And throughout this journey I have been shaped by fathers and mothers in the faith, by my colleagues in Ministry, my brothers and sisters in Christ from the Presbyterian and ecumenical churches, by all congregations I have been part of in Zambia and in South Africa – and my Glenwood congregation. I am very grateful to you all.

In this journey of Ministry, one needs special people who can understand and be always there. I have a faithful life partner on my side, a dear wife of 30 years this October, Tiba. Both in times of certainty and uncertainty, we have held on to what we believe God has called us to be and to do. And our two dear sons, Eddie and Victor, came into our lives while already on this journey of Ministry – they joined us and have been walking with us to this day. They have learnt to trust in God and to serve wherever they can. And we are very proud of Eddie and Victor. They are a special blessing to Tiba and me.

I would also want to acknowledge my own brothers and sisters and my in-laws living in different parts of the globe who have remained a pillar of strength and encouragement throughout my journey – I am grateful to them.

Partners In Mission (PIM) – the Message

You can now see that choosing a theme "Partners in Mission" (PIM) speaks volumes to who I have become in this journey of Ministry. I am a product of partnership throughout my faith journey, my professional life and family life.

The Apostle Paul writing to the Philippians 1:3-6 writes:

Philippians 1:3-6

I thank my God every time I remember you. In all my prayers for all of you, I always pray with Joy because of your partnership in the gospel from the first day until now, being confident of this, that he who began a good work in you will carry it on to completion until the day of Christ Jesus.

Thanking God every time he remembered them – who were these people? What role did they play in Paul's ministry?

These people Paul is addressing were the Philippian Christians in Macedonia. The same Christians he praised concerning their support of ministry in 1 Corinthians 8:1-5

And now, brothers and sisters, we want you to know about the grace that God has given the Macedonian churches. ² In the midst of a very severe trial, their overflowing joy and their extreme poverty welled up in rich generosity. ³ For I testify that they gave as much as they were able, and even beyond their ability. Entirely on their own, ⁴ they urgently pleaded with us for the privilege of sharing in this service to the Lord's people. ⁵ And they exceeded our expectations: They gave themselves first of all to the Lord, and then by the will of God also to us.

Who were these special people?

A Christian group mostly consisting of Gentiles who had come to respond to the Gospel preached by Paul in Philippi. Something to note about these Philippian Christians is that they were not Jewish and had little knowledge of the Old Testament. They were willing to navigate new ways of doing ministry different to the Jerusalem Jewish believers.

A very good point for us Presbyterians to note: In as much as traditions are helpful for our identity – traditions that are not open to what God is doing now in these present times could become a hinderance to the very progress we want to make as the Church. Like the Philippian Christians, we need to be ready to walk through unfamiliar territories and uncharted paths while trusting God for guidance. Like the first world explores, we need to dare the dragons and monsters as we say in unison: – "Let there be dragons!"

The Philippian Christians were open to what God was doing in their midst and open to explore uncharted territories. For this reason, they were quick to spot the need of the young established Church and the needs of the Apostle Paul.

And how did they support the Apostle Paul?

When Paul said the Philippians were partners in the gospel, he was pointing out their valuable contribution in spreading God's message. They contributed through their practical help when Paul was in Philippi, and through their financial support when he was in prison. They cared for him, they prayed for him, they gave financial contributions towards his ministry to support the spreading of the Gospel. In other words, they showed what it meant to be partners with him in the mission of God.

They never withheld stipend support (or watched the Minister or Evangelist starve), they never withheld ministry contributions to support the denomination, they never stopped tithing, planned-giving, offerings, cards, tickets like some of the Presbyterians we know – the Philippian Christians gave willingly. And Paul boasts openly about them. They helped Paul to coin a new phrase around this kind of support – Partnership. I always pray with Joy because of your partnership in the gospel from the first day until now

What is partnership?

Partnership is a type of relationship or business structure where two or more people or entities work together toward a common goal, sharing responsibilities, resources, profits, and losses. Partners contribute skills, time, or resources to achieve shared goals. In Business, each partner contributes capital, labour, or skills, and they share in profits, losses, and decision-making.

Understanding Partnership from a Biblical Perspective

In the Bible, partnership refers to working together in unity for a common spiritual or practical purpose - grounded in faith, love, and mutual support. Therefore, Partnership is not just a business concept—it's a spiritual principle of fellowship (koinonia), cooperation, collaboration and shared mission.

Paul recognized the Philippians' financial and spiritual support as a true gospel partnership, showing that helping in ministry is a form of godly partnership. Biblical partnerships go beyond transactions—they reflect God's design for community, teamwork, and mutual edification.

What is the Call to the UPCSA on this special Assembly Service? What do we learn from the concept of partnership? What are our take home lessons from this passage?

1. This is a call to partner in the mission of God.

The starting point is to understand that it is the Mission of God, which the famous late Great Missiologist and Church planter David Bosch coined as Missio Dei – the Mission of God or the Sending of God.

Before we partner with each other, we first and foremost partner with God in his mission. He is the Senior Partner in Mission.

Before the Lord Jesus Christ sent out his disciples, he first called them to himself.

- This is important for understanding our theme: "Partners in Mission" Understanding that it is the mission of God shapes the way we do ministry, the way we do Church and what we become as a Church, congregations, Presbyteries and Synods.

- This helps us to understand that we cannot just keep the Church to ourselves – we need to reach out and share the good news of the gospel with our communities, our workplace (the Market place) and whenever we have the opportunity to do so.

- This helps us to understand that we have to be practical. Not only are we called to speak the Word of God or preach the gospel; we have to pull up our sleeves and get involved in a broken world around us.

Getting involved by providing solutions to get rid of poverty. We should be bringing our resources together and create micro-businesses for our members, create small income generating projects and create job opportunities for our Youth.

Gone are the days when we preached to hungry people for 3 to 4 hours. What are you doing as a congregation to finding tangible solutions to alleviate poverty situations in your Congregation and to addressing some of the community vices of gender-based violence and child abuse.

In our Manual of Faith & Order (which I call a Manual of Faith and Governance), among our confessions of Faith and what we are as a Church believe, there is this stipulation that caught my attention in Chapter 2, clause 19.1 and 19.2:

"We should each seek our true vocation according to the abilities given to us. Work may be for wages or profit but should also serve God and people, no matter how humbly. We should promote mutual respect in the workplace and oppose exploitations and unfair working conditions." (2:19.1)

"In a world of appalling poverty alongside excessive wealth we need to heed the call to strive for a just and more equal society. Our money is not our own. God calls us to live as though everyone's poverty were our own and our resources were everyone's. We are to live simply and be faithful stewards of our abilities, time and money and other material resources to be a community of mutual sharing, to support the Church in its mission, and to do all we can for the poor as well as our own families. God's economy provides enough for all." (2:19.2)

For those of you who are semi-retired educators, what are you doing in providing space for tuition for the young people in your congregations?

For those of you who are businessmen and women, what are you doing in sharing ideas on entrepreneurship to change the economic landscapes of your congregations? For those of you with political influence or economical muscles, what are you doing in making the right connections with decision-makers in your area to bring development to your congregations and communities where you live or have family?

The mission of God we are talking about challenges us that it cannot be business as usual or spiritual as usual. We should start thinking differently and operating differently as a Church if we are to present Christ to a world that has become very suspicious of religion.

Our founding fathers and mothers of the faith within our Presbyterian and Reformed tradition understood that wherever you plant a Church, there should be a school (for education), a clinic or hospital (for health) and an income generating project (for addressing economic needs) and the Church (for spiritual needs). They understood the holistic approach to spirituality.

2. Partners have a common defined Vision and Mission - We may be coming from different backgrounds, different experiences, different ways of doing things – but what binds us together is a common vision and mission.

And this mission should be driven by a common passion to see the Church grow and expand in DRC, Zambia, Zimbabwe and the entire South Africa. We are talking about "Going for Growth" as a driving force for our denomination using partnership as a vehicle to deliver on this mission mandate. For us to grow the Church we should have a common vision and mission that brings us together as Partners in Mission – to hear what the Spirit of God is saying to the Church, to follow his guidance and to become life and light to the world that is becoming darker each day we wake up.

Yes, God has been speaking to some of us as individual Presbyterians, but today and from this day onwards, the Lord is speaking to us collectively as a denomination to take the Church forward in partnership with each other.

Vision defines where you are going (direction and our purpose for existence) and Mission defines how we are going to get there – the skills, resources and human collaboration that we need to get there.

Vision and mission keep us focused on what matters thus helping us to keep moving towards the right direction. We need to be very clear on the vision of the Church.

Our Vision

To be a reconciled Community of Christians exercising a Prophetic witness to Christ.

Our Mission

To proclaim the Triune God in Southern Africa through witnessing to Jesus' saving love, building vital congregations, and visibly proclaiming God's Kingdom through unity, justice, peace, and love.

That should keep us excited, that should keep our minds awake to develop new ways, new ideas about doing God's work in the UPCSA.

3. All Partners matter around the table.

Partners may not have equal contributions but whatever they bring to the table matters and should be recognized. No partner is a spectator – All partners participate.

Whether you are in the DRC, Zambia, Zimbabwe or South Africa – you belong to the UPCSAs. You need to start figuring out what you are going to bring to the table to keep the vision and mission of the Church alive.

Each one of us should take pride in what God has given us and therefore should pledge “Not at our watch would this ship called the UPCSAs sink, or this plane called the UPCSAs go down”. We should do whatever it takes, by God’s grace, to keep our vision and mission alive.

4. Partners share both painful and joyful moments

Partners are together in difficult times and joyous times. They celebrate when they have made profits, and they console each other when they have suffered losses. That is the spirit of partnership the Macedonian Churches had – they stood alongside Paul when he was preaching the Gospel in other places. They came alongside him when he was thrown into prison.

You do not jump ship as a UPCSAs partner in mission when things are tough, when you are not happy with what is happening – you call for help, you speak out in love about what you are not happy with. Remember, we remain partners for better and for worse, in health and in sickness, in want and in plenty.

5. Partners Make sacrifices

Partners make sure that they keep their business afloat. They give whatever they can to keep this thing going. They pour their personal resources to keep this thing going.

You cannot fold your arms as a Partner criticising what is happening, watching and waiting for those who are passionate about the ministry of the Church to make mistakes. That behaviour in itself rules you out – you should go and sit down and understand what is expected of you as a partner. Partners do not waste time blaming each other. They get together - sacrifice time, resources, money and skills to make their organization come alive again.

When Partners are not making profits, they come together to find the problem and then they fix the problem. They have no time blaming each other.

Time is of essence and should not be wasted on irrelevance. We have the business of the Kingdom of God to take care of. If you feel you are still figuring out what others are busy doing, then stay out of the way. Allow those who have the heart to do what needs to be done – do it. Do not become a time waster for others.

Come on board so that together we can be stronger (as in the theme of the past Moderator) and move forward.

And that is a call to every Presbyterian in this Service, those who have joined us virtually, those listening online and those who will hear this message in future.

6. Partners are aware that they need some other interventions when they run out of ideas and feeling stuck

Partners call for consultants or other intervention channels to help out when they get stuck. They put their egos and pride aside. They get together and shout for help. We do not need to wait until we run out of ideas to ask God for help.

The call to the UPCSAs this morning is for us to ask God to give us the grace to correct what needs to be corrected, the courage to change where we need to change and the wisdom to know what is beyond us so that we remain relevant in our witness of the gospel.

Our partnership is within a covenant relationship with God. We are not just partners amongst ourselves – we are partners also with God in his Mission.

We are involved in the Mission of God – Missio Dei – and we should recognize that without God giving us ideas, direction and guidance – our missional initiatives will remain mechanical, transactional and frustrating.

Paul understood that very well as he writes “ Being confident of this, that he who begun a good work in you will carry it onto completion until the day of Christ Jesus”

It is his mission – he invited us in to join him at the table. He provided everything but still gave us an opportunity to partner with him. Therefore, we need to make sure he is always with us as we engage in this mission.

Mechanical missional ideas end up wonderful mission ideologies but will remain packed on our theological shelves because they have no power to change lives and give hope to people. We need the breath of the Spirit of God into all the ideas that we are bringing to a partnership table so that they are life giving ideas, innovative and creative enough to make a positive contribution to a society broken by poverty, gender violence and the injustices we see around us.

Passing on the Baton

And because it is God’s mission we are involved in, we should see to it that there is a succession plan in place – where we pass on the legacy to the next generation. Where we invest time in mentoring the young people to know how to serve the Lord with passion and commitment and take the Church forward. Professor Walter Bruggeman asks a nice question in his analysis of the pedagogy of the Church: “Will our next generation of believers keep the faith?”

A true partner does not die with their ideas and knowledge – they make sure they pass on to the next generation of leaders.

Celebrating Presbyterians

Partners take moments to celebrate each other for the journey they have been on.

In closing this message, as a partner in this Church – the UPCSA. May I take a moment to celebrate: The unsung heroes and Heroines of our Church.

I celebrate the Mamas, the Gogos (both men and women), the lay people who have held UPCSA Congregations together where they have had no ministers or no means of getting a minister.

I celebrate the Ministers serving in difficult and challenging economic conditions yet faithfully serving Christ and pastoring with love and care.

I celebrate the Retired Emeritus Ministers who have continued to offer their pastoral services to helping struggling congregations, facilitating conflict situations and counselling broken Presbyterians who have no Ministers.

I celebrate the spouses of Ministers and their children who have sacrificed a lot for the Church – birthday celebrations that have been missed and special anniversaries and special events because the Minister was away burying the dead or attending to emergency Church matters.

I celebrate members of our denomination in business who have quietly sacrificed their personal resources and finances to support congregations and the work of ministry.

You may be the unsung Heroes and Heroines but be assured today that Heaven counts on you and calls you, “Partners in Mission”.

I salute you.

I say these words in the name of the Father, and of the Son and the Holy Spirit. Amen

The Rt. Rev Dr Amon Kasambala
Moderator, General Assembly 2025-2027

CONFIRMED this _____ day _____ 2025

MODERATOR

CLERK

SECOND SESSION

At the KSD TVET College, Mthatha, within the bounds of the Mthatha Presbytery, on Saturday 28th June 2025 at 17h05, the Ministers and Elders, as Commissioners of the General Assembly appointed to meet this day, reconvened.

The Moderator called the General Assembly to Order and invited the Assembly Business Committee Convener to lead the General Assembly in the business of the day.

The Business Convener explained that the Session was the Executive Session and the Formal Majority decision making system was to be used.

EXECUTIVE SESSION

Announcements

The Rev Lulama Mshumpela welcomed all commissioners present and sensitised the Assembly to the state of Mthatha after the extreme weather that had happened and encouraged Presbyteries to donate towards the relief of those affected.

Notices of Motion

The Moderator called for Notices of Motion.

Notice of Motion 1

The Rev Wayne van Heerden gave notice that:

At a time convenient to the Council, or when the General Assembly considers the Doctrine report, he would move the following:

“The General Assembly of the UPCSA affirms and celebrates its approach to and understanding of the Holy Scriptures.”

This was seconded by the Rev Molokoane.

The Clerk of Assembly proposed that the notice of motion be dealt with under Doctrine Committee report. This was seconded and agreed.

Notice of Motion 2

The Rev Christopher Judelsohn gave notice that:

At a time convenient to the General Assembly or when the Assembly considers the Ethics and Discipline Committee Report he shall move that:

The UPCSA recognizes that the reality of different sexual orientations remains a contentious issue within the church. Spurred on by the need to address the pastoral realities of members of our congregations who are not of heterosexual orientation and often suffer a great deal from prejudice, hatred, discrimination and violence, the Church affirms the following:

1) That human sexuality is a complex, personal and private matter that often raises deep emotions and convictions within people precisely because it goes to the very core of our identity and self-understanding as human beings made in the image of God.

2) That for many people understanding their sexual orientation and accepting who they are as sexual beings in a face of prejudice is a daily struggle. Therefore, as followers of Jesus, the One who seeks to bring life in all its fullness to all people, we are called to show God's love and grace to those who live with this struggle.

3) That for a portion of society across all cultures, a heterosexual orientation (being attracted to and seeking partnership with someone of the opposite sex) is neither natural nor normal, and the Church should be a place in which such people feel accepted, loved, and can journey in faith like anyone else.

4) That sexual orientation is not a choice and is to be viewed in the same way as race, gender, age and physical abilities, i.e. although these are things that distinguish one person from another, they can have no bearing on a person's belonging to or participation in God's Kingdom, including in exercising leadership in the UPCSA.

5) That the scriptures do not speak to nor address sexual orientation (homosexual or heterosexual), per se, but rather sexual behaviour, and that it quite clearly stands against any promiscuous sexual behaviour and sexual behaviour outside of a monogamous, loving, committed and permanent relationship, precisely because such behaviour distorts God's intentions for sexuality and sexual expression.

6) That the passages or verses of scripture quoted to justify a rejection of a sexual orientation other than heterosexuality, speak to promiscuous sexual behaviour and need to be read and understood within their particular contexts and within the broader witness of scripture and Jesus Christ, as the living Word of God.

7) That stereotypes and falsehoods regarding sexual orientation are to be challenged.

8) *That the role of the church is to support, counsel and encourage everyone, regardless of their sexual orientation, to live holy lives of faith in Jesus in service of God's Kingdom.

This was seconded by the Rev Fezeka Jobela.

The Clerk of Assembly proposed that the notice of motion be dealt with under the Ethics and Discipline Committee report. This was seconded and agreed.

Notice of Motion 3

The Rev Dr Bukelwa Hans gave notice that when the Assembly considered the report of the Ethics and Discipline Committee or at a time convenient to the Assembly, she would move that:

The UPCSA formally declare itself to be an inclusive and affirming community, welcoming LGBTQI+ individuals into the full life and ministry of the church, including leadership, membership, sacraments, and pastoral care.

Further, that the church publicly communicates this commitment through its website, signage, and outreach materials, and explore opportunities for education, dialogue, and healing within Synods, Presbyteries, Congregations, and in wider community.

This was seconded by the Rev Michael Craig.

The Clerk of Assembly proposed that the notice of motion be dealt with under Ethics and Discipline. This was seconded and agreed.

Notice of Motion 4

The Rev Ndimpiwe Qupuna gave notice that when the Assembly considered the report of the Church Fellowships Committee or at a time convenient to the Assembly, he would move that:

"the General Assembly requests Fellowship to assess their membership in line with the method of denominational ministerial contributions."

This was seconded by Mr Joseph Maqekeni.

The Clerk of Assembly proposed that the notice of motion be dealt with under Church Fellowships Committee. This was seconded and agreed.

Notice of Motion 5

The Rev Ndimpiwe Qupuna gave notice that when the Assembly considered the report of the Church Fellowships Committee or at a time convenient to the Assembly, he would move that:

"the General Assembly instructs Denominational Conferences of Fellowships to hold their Conferences every third year, alternating with the General Assembly."

This was seconded by Mr Joseph Maqekeni.

The Clerk of Assembly proposed that the notice of motion be dealt with under Church Fellowships Committee. This was seconded and agreed.

Notice of Motion 6

The Rev Dr Bukelwa Hans gave notice that when the Assembly considered the report of the Ecumenical Relationships Committee or at a time convenient to the Assembly, she would move that:

1. "the UPCSA formally recognises the last Sunday in July annually as Grape Sunday and that a special offering be collected on this Sunday for furthering the advocacy campaign of GRAPE.
2. resolves to appoint a dedicated Champion for the GRAPE project and the Basic Income Grant, who will work with the Ecumenical Relations Committee."

This was seconded by Elder Mtshake.

The Clerk of Assembly proposed that the notice of motion should be dealt with under Ecumenical Relationships Committee. This was seconded and agreed.

Notice of Motion 7

The Rev Sibusiso Gwala gave notice that when the Assembly considered the report of the Church Fellowships Committee or at a time convenient to the Assembly, he would move that:

"the General Assembly instructs Denominational Conferences of Fellowships to hold their Conferences only every second year alternating with the General Assembly."

This was seconded by the Rev Sibusiso Zungu.

The Clerk of Assembly proposed that the notice of motion should be dealt with under Church Fellowships Committee. This was seconded and agreed.

Notice of Motion 8

The Rev Sibusiso Gwala gave notice that when the Assembly considered the report of the Church Fellowships Committee or at a time convenient to the Assembly, he would move that:

"the General Assembly instruct Denominational Conferences of Fellowships to hold their Conferences in churches, community halls, and/or any place of worship other than hotels and conference centres that charge excessively leading to entry fees."

This was seconded by the Rev Sibusiso Zungu.

The Clerk of Assembly proposed that the notice of motion be dealt with under Church Fellowships Committee. This was seconded and agreed.

5. The General Assembly

- (i) notes the GRAPE (Global Reformed Advocacy Platform on Engagement) programme run jointly between the Africa Communion of Reformed Churches and the World Communion of Reformed Churches in South Africa and focussed on the Basic Income Grant;

- (j) encourages Sessions to make members of our congregations aware of this programme and encourage members to volunteer for advocacy training.

6. The General Assembly notes that the General Council of the World Communion of Reformed Churches will take place in October 2025 in Chiang Mai, Thailand, and that the once in every seven year event will be attended by the Moderator, the General Secretary, Ms S Siwela and Ms Afika Babazile Rwayi, as decided by the 2024 Executive Commission.

7. The General Assembly

(k) notes that the Central Committee of the World Council of Churches has met in Johannesburg from 18 to 24 June 2025;

(l) expresses its thanks to the ministers and congregations who participated in hosting delegates for worship on Sunday 22 June and in many other practical aspects.

8. The General Assembly notes the bilateral ecumenical engagements between the UPCSА and its ecumenical partners in southern Africa and abroad with thanksgiving and encourages Presbyteries, Synods and the Ecumenical Relationships committee to seek out meaningful connections at every level.

This was agreed by Consensus.

Notice of Motion 6 – The Rev Dr Bukelwa Hans

The Rev Dr Bukelwa Hans presented motion of which she had given notice:

"1. The UPCSА formally recognises the last Sunday in July annually as GRAPE Sunday and that a special offering be collected on this Sunday for furthering the advocacy campaign of GRAPE.

2. resolves to appoint a dedicated Champion for the GRAPE project and the Basic Income Grant, who will work with the Ecumenical Relations Committee."

The Motion was sent to Insaka Groups.

ETHICS AND DISCIPLINE

The Convener presented the report.

The Clerk of Assembly moved that:

1. The General Assembly receives the report.

This was agreed by Consensus.

The Clerk indicated that the other proposals were Missional.

Notice of Motion 2 – The Rev Christopher Judelsohn

The Rev Christopher Judelsohn moved the motion of which he had given notice:

"The UPCSА recognizes that the reality of different sexual orientations remains a contentious issue within the church. Spurred on by the need to address the pastoral realities of members of our congregations who are not of heterosexual orientation and often suffer a great deal from prejudice, hatred, discrimination and violence, the Church recognises that there are some members in the UPCSА, but not all, who affirm the following:

1) That human sexuality is a complex, personal and private matter that often raises deep emotions and convictions within people precisely because it goes to the very core of our identity and self-understanding as human beings made in the image of God.

2) That for many people understanding their sexual orientation and accepting who they are as sexual beings in the face of prejudice is a daily struggle. Therefore, as followers of Jesus, the One who seeks to bring life in all its fullness to all people, we are called to show God's love and grace to those who live with this struggle.

3) That for a portion of society across all cultures, a heterosexual orientation (being attracted to and seeking partnership with someone of the opposite sex) is neither natural nor normal, and the Church should be a place in which such people feel accepted, loved, and can journey in faith like anyone else.

4) That sexual orientation is not a choice and is to be viewed in the same way as race, gender, age and physical abilities, i.e. although these are things that distinguish one person from another, they can have no bearing on a person's belonging to or participation in God's Kingdom, including in exercising leadership in the UPCSA.

5) That the scriptures do not speak to nor address sexual orientation (homosexual or heterosexual), per se, but rather sexual behaviour, and that it quite clearly stands against any promiscuous sexual behaviour and sexual behaviour outside of a monogamous, loving, committed and permanent relationship, precisely because such behaviour distorts God's intentions for sexuality and sexual expression.

6) That the passages or verses of scripture quoted to justify a rejection of a sexual orientation other than heterosexuality, speak to promiscuous sexual behaviour and need to be read and understood within their particular contexts and within the broader witness of scripture and Jesus Christ, as the living Word of God.

7) That stereotypes and falsehoods regarding sexual orientation are to be challenged.

8) That the role of the church is to support, counsel and encourage everyone, regardless of their sexual orientation, to live holy lives of faith in Jesus in service of God's Kingdom.

Notice of Motion 3 – The Rev Dr Bukelwa Hans

The Rev Dr Bukelwa Hans moved the motion of which she had given notice:

"The UPCSA formally declares itself to be an inclusive and affirming community, welcoming LGBTQI+ individuals into the full life and ministry of the church, including leadership, membership, sacraments, and pastoral care.

Further that the Church publicly communicates this commitment through its website, signage, and outreach materials, and explore opportunities for education, dialogue, and healing within Synods, Presbyteries, Congregations, and in the wider community,

These two Notices of Motion were sent to the Insaka Groups.

2. The Assembly encourages all fellowships through the Church Fellowships Committee to use venues for AGMs that are accessible and not exclusive.
This was agreed by Consensus.

3. The Assembly grants permission to the CFC, in consultation with the Fellowships & P&R Committee, to explore possibilities for caring for young people who feel excluded in the current set-up of the fellowships and report progress at the next Executive Commission.
This was agreed by Consensus.

4. The Assembly notes the progress made by the fellowships of the UPCSA in developing the bylaws.

This was agreed by Consensus.

5. The Assembly notes with appreciation the work done by the CF and P&R committees and encourages the committees to do more in strengthening the transnationality of the UPCSA fellowships.

This was agreed by Consensus.

CHURCH FELLOWSHIPS SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT

2. The General Assembly

a. notes the work on developing the Fellowships uniform is in progress.

b. notes the presented artwork for the logos of all Fellowships and instructs the CFC to start the process of consultation.

This was agreed by Consensus.

3. The General Assembly endorses the submitted terms of reference for the uniform Task team.

This was agreed by Consensus.

4. The General Assembly agrees that the appointment of members of the Task Team be effective until the task is done, irrespective of whether the member is still serving in the fellowship executive committee or not.

This was agreed by Consensus.

5. The General Assembly

a. strongly discourages members of the church in using social media as a platform to critique fellowships

b. instructs the Church fellowships Committee to place on their agenda the discussion around POPIA & PAIA with fellowships executives

c. instructs the communications committee to craft a policy on the creation of the WhatsApp group or any social media platform in the name of the church.

d. CFC creates ways of engagement across fellowships.

This was agreed by Consensus.

6. The General Assembly adopts four five key areas namely; evangelism, church in society, spiritual growth, stewardship and discipleship to be the areas that the fellowships need to focus on and together with the CFC develop strategies that will enable local churches to actively participate; getting more resources through the "Going for Growth" program.

This was agreed by Consensus.

5. The General Assembly recommends that the minimum donation be at least R1000.00 by each congregation.

DOCTRINE

The Clerk of Assembly moved that:

2. The General Assembly affirms the "Creation – Fall – Redemption – Sanctification – Glory" framework as a guiding theological approach to ethical and social issues both within and outside the Church.

This was agreed by Consensus.

3. The General Assembly upholds a biblical sexual ethic that recognizes gender as a divine creation of male and female in mutually supporting and complementary roles.

It was agreed by Consensus that this proposal be referred to the Human Sexuality Task Team.

5. The General Assembly affirms that the Bible presents one God-honouring context for sexual intimacy, namely: heterosexual marriage.

6. The General Assembly affirms the definition and sanctity of Christian marriage as a covenanted life-long union between one man and one woman.

7. The General Assembly agrees to excise the term "sexual orientation" from the two Confession of Faith non-discrimination articles specified and initiates the relevant processes for this purpose.

It was agreed by Consensus that proposals 4 to 7 be referred to the Task Team on Human Sexuality.

8. The General Assembly affirms its primary view that Scripture is the divinely inspired and infallible Word of God, free from error in its original manuscripts, and is uniquely sufficient and trustworthy as the ultimate authority for faith and life.

9. The General Assembly approves the deletion of the aforementioned footnote 2 to article 6.4 of chapter 2, page 9 in the Confession of Faith which divides the UPCSAs on the views of Scripture.

It was agreed by Consensus that proposals 8 and 9 be referred back to the Committee.

10. The General Assembly instructs the Doctrine Committee to continue its work on the topic of extra-biblical revelation in light of modern trends in so-called "apostolic" and "prophetic" circles of the wider church.

This was agreed by Consensus.

14. The General Assembly instructs all ministers and elders that all adult converts of "lapsed parents" be especially encouraged in the truth of God's covenantal faithfulness; and recommends the use of the existing liturgy "Order for the Public Profession of Faith and Reaffirmation of the Baptismal Covenant", or the order for "Reaffirmation of Covenant" to give these converts the proper opportunity to declare their faith in Jesus Christ in a service of public worship. (These liturgies can be sourced on the UPCSAs website.)

This was agreed by Consensus.

17. General Assembly encourages ministers, Sessions and Presbyteries of the UPCSAs to read and critically evaluate the "The Ethiopian Fulfilment, Pentecost and Israel" pdf booklet for their own context.

This was agreed by Consensus.

DOCTRINE SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT – Confessions of Faith

The Clerk of Assembly moved that:

2. The Assembly instructs the webmaster

- (a) to restore the key text, Jn. 1:1-18, to the beginning of the parenthesis at the end of the third bulleted point in Art. 6.4, footnote 2, in the version of the UPCSА Confession of Faith on the UPCSА website (from which it has somehow inadvertently fallen out);
- (b) to add Rev. 19:13 at the end of the same parenthesis (see footnote 1 on the first page of the report); and
- (c) to strengthen the final sentence of the footnote by amending it to read: "All three of these views are permitted within the UPCSА, provided that those holding them all confess that Jesus Christ is the living Word of God, and that the Scriptures, as the indispensable witness to Jesus Christ, are inspired by God and are the unique, adequate and ultimate authority for all the Church’s doctrine, teaching, preaching. theology and ethics.

3. The Assembly

- (a) approves Section A of the report on 'Different Views of Scripture';
- (b) reaffirms its acceptance of the three different views of Scripture listed in footnote 2 attached to Art. 6.4 of the UPCSА Confession of Faith, along with the proviso in the final sentence, as amended; and
- (c) instructs the webmaster to place Section A on 'Different Views of Scripture' on the UPCSА website as an aid to the better understanding and teaching of this issue in the Confession of Faith.

4. The Assembly reaffirms both

- (a) the statement in Art.2 0.3 of the UPCSА Confession of Faith that: Because God created all people equally in that image [the image of God] and Christ gave his life to restore it, every person’s life is sacrosanct. Everyone has a God-given dignity and a right to be treated with respect and protected from violence and abuse, no matter their gender, age, race, social status, sexual orientation, religion and despite any mental or physical handicap; and
- (b) the parallel summary statement in clause 2 of The Essential Points of Doctrine that: In Christ there is no ground for separation or discrimination between people on grounds of race, colour, social status, gender, age, disability or sexual orientation, either in Church or in State.

It was agreed by Consensus that all the Supplementary Report proposals be referred to the Doctrine Committee.

NOTICE OF MOTION 1

The Clerk moved the Notice of Motion standing in the name of the Rev Wayne van Heerden:

"The General Assembly of the UPCSА affirms and celebrates its approach to and understanding of the Holy Scriptures."

It was agreed by consensus that the Notice of Motion be referred to the Doctrine Committee.

 - (b) encourages all Presbyteries to make the Interim Moderator's Manual available for all Interim Moderators.
3. The General Assembly instructs the Mission & Discipleship committee to update the 2016 report on Models of Ministry in collaboration with the Ministry Committee and to bring concrete and actionable proposals to the 2026 Executive Commission.

CHURCH FELLOWSHIPS COMMITTEE

1. The Assembly encourages all fellowships through the Church Fellowships Committee to use venues for AGMs that are accessible and not exclusive.
2. The Assembly grants permission to the CFC, in consultation with the Fellowships & P&R Committee, to explore possibilities for caring for young people who feel excluded in the current set-up of the fellowships and report progress at the next Executive Commission.
3. The Assembly notes the progress made by the fellowships of the UPCSA in developing the bylaws.
4. The Assembly notes with appreciation the work done by the CF and P&R committees and encourages the committees to do more in strengthening the transnationality of the UPCSA fellowships.
5. The General Assembly
 - a. notes the work on developing the Fellowships uniform is in progress.
 - b. notes the presented artwork for the logos of all Fellowships and instructs the CFC to start the process of consultation.
6. The General Assembly endorses the submitted terms of reference for the uniform Task team.
7. The General Assembly agrees that the appointment of members of the Task Team be effective until the task is done, irrespective of whether the member is still serving in the fellowship executive committee or not.

8. The General Assembly

- a. strongly discourages members of the church in using social media as a platform to critique fellowships
- b. instructs the Church fellowships Committee to place on their agenda the discussion around POPIA & PAIA with fellowships executives
- c: instructs the communications committee to craft a policy on the creation of the WhatsApp group or any social media platform in the name of the church.
- d. CFC creates ways of engagement across fellowships.

9. The General Assembly adopts four five key areas namely; evangelism, church in society, spiritual growth, stewardship and discipleship to be the areas that the fellowships need to focus on and together with the CFC develop strategies that will enable local churches to actively participate; getting more resources through the "Going for Growth" program.

10. General Assembly

- a. notes the Notice of Motion on holding fellowships Conferences biennially and refers it back to the CFC for further consultation with the fellowships and report at the 2027 General Assembly.
- b. CFC collects data from all the Presbyteries that hosted conferences of fellowships in 2024 and 2025.

EDUCATION AND TRAINING COMMITTEE

2. The General Assembly notes the names of Students for the ministry and their years of study.
3. The General Assembly notes the names of students to be removed from the list of recognized students for the Ministry of the UPCSAs.
4. The General Assembly notes the role of the Ministry Committee in supporting those students who are experiencing difficulty with their studies.
5. The General Assembly notes the list of Probationers for 2025.
6. The General Assembly notes that the discernment Conference took place from 5 to 7 June 2025.

7. The General Assembly encourages Presbyteries to participate as partners in the study being conducted by the Ministry committee which seeks to ascertain the ministerial needs of the UPCSA.
8. The General Assembly congratulates those Presbyteries who sent Fellowship of Vocation and Ministry Committee Conveners to the workshop that was held within the bounds of Tshwane Presbytery this year.
9. The General Assembly notes that the next Empowerment workshop will take place in September 2025.
10. The General Assembly notes that the disciplinary matter involving the Rev Eric Masikane has not yet been finalized.
11. The General Assembly notes the removal of Mr Ngcambu from the list of approved students for ministry.
12. The General Assembly notes the interest expressed by ministers from other denominations in the ministry of the UPCSA.
13. The General Assembly notes the list of seconded Ministers and congratulates them for representing the UPCSA so well.
14. The General Assembly notes that the Rev Dr Buhle Mpofo continues to be seconded to the Faculty of Theology and Religion at the University of Pretoria.
15. The General Assembly notes that the training of the Democratic Republic of Congo pastors has not taken place due to lack of funds.
16. The General Assembly thanks the Fellowship of Women for the generous donation made to the life and work of the Committee.
17. The General Assembly notes that the Sedibeng house of studies has been opened to receive any UPCSA students from other fields of study.
18. The General Assembly notes that the proposed minimum increases across the board for the Presbytery of Zimbabwe were done in consultation with the Ministers within the Presbytery of Zimbabwe.
19. The General Assembly commends the Ministry Committee for arranging the Ministers' consultation on stipends and encourages Ministers to participate in future consultations.
20. The General Assembly notes that the Ministry Committee discerned a call on eight candidates.
21. The General Assembly
 - (a) resolves that supervisors for Probationers should be ordained as ministers for at least 5 years if possible;
 - (b) amends paragraph 17.34 of the Manual of Faith and Order as follows: "The Presbytery appoints, as the Supervisor of each Probationer, a Minister who has at least five years of ordained ministry."
22. The General Assembly
 - (a) approves the new practice of placing prospective Probationers in Presbyteries and finding Congregations to place them in, with the Ministry Committee of the General Assembly in liaison with Presbyteries;

(b) resolves to add the following paragraph to chapter 17 of the Manual of Faith and Order: "When a Student is in the final year of study, the Ministry Committee may commend to the General Assembly or Executive Commission the placement of that Student in a particular Presbytery until the end of his or her Probation period. In doing so, the Committee considers the gifts of the Student and the value of being exposed to people of other races, cultures and nations. The Committee may subsidize the Probationer's allowance."

23. The General Assembly

- (a) notes with great concern that three Probationers have not been placed this year;
- (b) records its dissatisfaction with the non-placement of some Probationers due to the alleged unavailability of congregations and unwillingness of Interim Moderators to receive them in vacant congregations;
- (c) calls upon Gender Desk
 - (i) to draft a strong statement condemning discrimination against two female Probationers
 - (ii) arrange an awareness campaign to sensitize congregations to the issue of discrimination against female probationers;
- (d) instructs the Assembly Standing Commission to issue the Statement on the Assembly's behalf;
- (e) instructs the Ministry Committee to investigate allegations of non-placement of female probationers and bring a comprehensive report to the Executive Commission.

24. The General Assembly seconds

- (a) the Rev Bongiwe Ngebulana to the South African Police Service as Chaplain;
- (b) the Rev Sisanda Mpafi to the South African National Defence Force as Chaplain.

- (d) the Rev Dr Wonke Buqa to the Department of Correctional Services as Chaplain.

25. The General Assembly encourages ministers to attend the Trauma Counselling course scheduled for October 2025.

26. The General Assembly

- (a) increases the minimum Stipend for ministers in South Africa by 4,5% per year for the next two years and notes that this proposal was prepared in consultation with the Ministers.
- (b) encourages Presbyteries not to stick to the bare minimum.

27. The General Assembly increases the minimum Stipend for ministers in Zambia by 10% per year for the next two years and notes that this proposal was prepared in consultation with the Ministers.

28. The General Assembly resolves that Presbyteries should determine the upward adjustment of minister's monthly travel allowances based on their contexts.

It was agreed by Consensus that this proposal be sent back to the Assembly Ministry and Finance committees to work on and report by January 2026. The Assembly granted the Ministry Committee the power to set the Transport Allowance for 2026.

APPLICATIONS TO RETIRE

1. The General Assembly grants the Rev Jennie Moyo Nyirongo permission to retire on 30 April 2025, grants her the status of Minister Emerita and a seat on the Presbytery in which she resides.
2. The General Assembly grants the Rev Sello P Molepo permission to retire on 31 October 2025, grants him the status of Minister Emeritus and a seat on the Presbytery in which he resides.

3. The General Assembly grants the Rev Lindani Edwin Sokhela permission to retire on 31 December 2025, grants him the status of Minister Emeritus and a seat on the Presbytery in which he resides.
4. The General Assembly grants the Rev Michael Muller permission to retire on 31 August 2025, grants him the status of Minister Emeritus and a seat on the Presbytery in which he resides.
5. The General Assembly grants the Rev Mukondeleli E Ramulondi permission to retire on 31 August 2025, grants him the status of Minister Emeritus and a seat on the Presbytery in which he resides.
6. The General Assembly grants the Rev Isak Saul Williams permission to retire on 31 December 2025, grants him the status of Minister Emeritus and a seat on the Presbytery in which he resides.
7. The General Assembly grants the Rev Nzimane Debruin Jita permission to retire on 31 July 2025, grants him the status of Minister Emeritus and a seat on the Presbytery in which he resides.

CHURCH IN SOCIETY COMMITTEE

1. The General Assembly
 - a. encourages Presbyteries to facilitate workshops on Accra Confession and the São Paulo Statement.
 - b. refers the same to the Communications Committee for translation and report to the 2026 Executive Commission.
2. The General Assembly revisits the system of how ministers without charge are appointed to vacant congregations and therefore follows a code of good practice from CUC partners that successfully curbed the terrible trends of greed and abuse of UPCSA governance.

The proposal was referred to the Ministry committee for consideration and report to the 2026 Executive Commission.

3. The General Assembly reaffirms the UPCSA pledge to fight against Gender-based violence and the commitment to create a safer environment for spiritual growth and well-being for all.
4. The General Assembly instructs Presbyteries to ensure that congregations empower their respective communities to stand up for their rights on Gender Justice and instructs the Manual Committee to include policies in the Manual of Faith and Order that address sexual abuse and misconduct.
5. The Assembly encourages theologians and social activists in the UPCSA to actively participate in advocacy programs for Gender Justice.
6. The General Assembly encourages Presbyteries and congregations' Church in Society committees to engage in community development programs, focusing on education, healthcare, and economic empowerment, working with relevant stakeholders within their communities.
7. The General Assembly
 - a) instructs the committee to work with other organisations such as Scripture Union and 'Protective Behaviours Practitioners' who have excellent tried-and-tested materials and programmes that have been developed especially for children in collaboration with social workers, child psychologists and other experts in the field of child protection and advocacy
 - b) urges congregations to use Sunday School time for teaching the Bible, whilst arranging courses for parents and children at other times during the week.

PEOPLE WITH DISABILITIES COMMITTEE

1. The General Assembly resolves that Presbyteries shall submit names of persons with disabilities Committee Convenors to the Clerk of Assembly by 31st December 2025.
2. The General Assembly instructs Presbyteries to commission inclusive infrastructure accessibility audits of congregations within their bounds and submit the report to the Clerk of Assembly by 31st January 2026.
3. The General Assembly adopts, in principle, the concept of Disability-inclusive Budgeting and instructs the Finance Committee to come up with policy guidelines in the Executive Commission 2026.

ETHICS AND DISCIPLINE

The Convener of the Drafting Committee reported that Insaka Groups were not in Consensus about a way forward in regard to this report.

The Moderator led the Assembly in prayer.

1. The General Assembly appoints a Task Team to construct a document seeking consensus on this matter, bearing in mind the Committee's Report and the two Notices of Motion tabled at the 2025 General Assembly, and in consultation with the Ethics and Discipline Committee, and to report to the Executive Commission 2026.

DOCTRINE COMMITTEE

1. The General Assembly affirms the "Creation – Fall – Redemption – Sanctification - Glory" framework as a guiding theological approach to ethical and social issues both within and outside the Church.
2. The General Assembly upholds a biblical sexual ethic that recognizes gender as a divine creation of male and female in mutually supporting and complementary roles.
It was agreed by Consensus that this proposal be referred to the Human Sexuality Task Team.
3. The General Assembly affirms that there is one divinely ordained model for sexual orientation, i.e. heterosexuality; and that sexual orientation or activity apart from that is a departure from God's good design and arises from the Fall.
4. The General Assembly affirms that the Bible presents one God-honouring context for sexual intimacy, namely: heterosexual marriage.
5. The General Assembly affirms the definition and sanctity of Christian marriage as a covenanted life-long union between one man and one woman.
6. The General Assembly agrees to excise the term "sexual orientation" from the two Confession of Faith non-discrimination articles specified and initiates the relevant processes for this purpose.
It was agreed by Consensus that proposals 3 to 6 be referred to the Task Team on Human Sexuality.
7. The General Assembly affirms its primary view that Scripture is the divinely inspired and infallible Word of God, free from error in its original manuscripts, and is uniquely sufficient and trustworthy as the ultimate authority for faith and life.

8. The General Assembly approves the deletion of the aforementioned footnote 2 to article 6.4 of chapter 2, page 9 in the Confession of Faith which divides the UPCSAs on the views of Scripture.

It was agreed by Consensus that proposals 7 and 8 be referred back to the Committee.

9. The General Assembly instructs the Doctrine Committee to continue its work on the topic of extra-biblical revelation in light of modern trends in so-called "apostolic" and "prophetic" circles of the wider church.

10. The General Assembly instructs all ministers and elders that all adult converts of "lapsed parents" be especially encouraged in the truth of God's covenantal faithfulness; and recommends the use of the existing liturgy "Order for the Public Profession of Faith and Reaffirmation of the Baptismal Covenant", or the order for "Reaffirmation of Covenant" to give these converts the proper opportunity to declare their faith in Jesus Christ in a service of public worship. (These liturgies can be sourced on the UPCSAs website.)

11. General Assembly encourages ministers, Sessions and Presbyteries of the UPCSAs to read and critically evaluate the "The Ethiopian Fulfilment, Pentecost and Israel" pdf booklet for their own context.

DOCTRINE SUPPLEMENTARY REPORT – Confessions of Faith

4. The Assembly instructs the webmaster

(a) to restore the key text, Jn. 1:1-18, to the beginning of the parenthesis at the end of the third bulleted point in Art. 6.4, footnote 2, in the version of the UPCSAs Confession of Faith on the UPCSAs website (from which it has somehow inadvertently fallen out);

(b) to add Rev. 19:13 at the end of the same parenthesis (see footnote 1 on the first page of the report); and

(c) to strengthen the final sentence of the footnote by amending it to read: "All three of these views are permitted within the UPCSAs, provided that those holding them all confess that Jesus Christ is the living Word of God, and that the Scriptures, as the indispensable witness to Jesus Christ, are inspired by God and are the unique, adequate and ultimate authority for all the Church's doctrine, teaching, preaching, theology and ethics.

5. The Assembly

(a) approves Section A of the report on 'Different Views of Scripture';

(b) reaffirms its acceptance of the three different views of Scripture listed in footnote 2 attached to Art. 6.4 of the UPCSAs Confession of Faith, along with the proviso in the final sentence, as amended; and

(c) instructs the webmaster to place Section A on 'Different Views of Scripture' on the UPCSAs website as an aid to the better understanding and teaching of this issue in the Confession of Faith.

6. The Assembly reaffirms both

(a) the statement in Art.2 0.3 of the UPCSAs Confession of Faith that:

Because God created all people equally in that image [the image of God] and Christ gave his life to restore it, every person's life is sacrosanct. Everyone has a God-given dignity and a right to be treated with respect and protected from violence and abuse, no matter their gender, age, race, social status, sexual orientation, religion and despite any mental or physical handicap; and

(b) the parallel summary statement in clause 2 of The Essential Points of Doctrine that: In Christ there is no ground for separation or discrimination between people on grounds of race, colour, social status, gender, age, disability or sexual orientation, either in Church or in State.

It was agreed by Consensus that all the Supplementary Report proposals be referred to the Doctrine Committee.

NOTICE OF MOTION 1

The General Assembly of the UPCSA affirms and celebrates its approach to and understanding of the Holy Scriptures.

It was agreed by consensus that the Notice of Motion be referred to the Doctrine Committee.

PARTNERS IN MISSION (PIM)
Jeremiah 1:17-19; Luke 4:16-21; 2 Corinthians 5:16-21

Delivered by the General Assembly Moderator, the Rt Rev Dr Amon Kasambala at the closing Service of the 2025 General Assembly.

Introduction

On Sunday we started with a call to partnership – as Partners in Mission. I am a PIM

Who are the PIMs?

Presbyterians who come together to support God’s Kingdom work through their gifts, resources, finances, skills, abilities, business connections and influence.

Partnership is not just a business concept—it’s a spiritual principle of fellowship (koinonia), cooperation, collaboration and shared mission.

Today, I would like to take what I call having conversation with God through His Word.

These conversations are going to focus on two aspects of our Christian Journey as partners with God in his Mission.

The Call and the Commissioning

What is a Call?

- A connection made between people using a cell phone or communication device.
- A request or command to come or do something.
- A strong inner urge or invitation from God to serve, follow, or carry out a specific purpose.

An invitation has been made to all of us to become Partners with God in Mission.

- To bring to the table whatever we are able to – resources, skills, money, abilities and influence to enhance and expand the Kingdom of God.

The challenge of the Call is that it challenges our own perspectives on life, on God, on others.

Conversation 1 – Moses is frustrated in Exodus 3 – from the comfort of the palace to the lostness of the bush life. From a prince to a refugee. All he wanted was to rescue his fellow Hebrew from being abused.

God came to him in something that will blow his mind – a burning bush, a voice ordering him to take off his shoes. What defines you is not what will create greatness in you – it is what is given to you by the power of Heaven beyond yourself. God had to call Moses out of that perspective to give him a new perspective.

Conversation 2 – Hannah – no child, she became a laughingstock in her community in 1 Samuel 1. God came to Hannah

As she kept on praying to the Lord, Eli observed her mouth. ¹³ Hannah was praying in her heart, and her lips were moving but her voice was not heard. Eli thought she was drunk ¹⁴ and said to her, "How long are you going to stay drunk? Put away your wine."

¹⁵ "Not so, my lord," Hannah replied, "I am a woman who is deeply troubled. I have not been drinking wine or beer; I was pouring out my soul to the Lord. ¹⁶ Do not take your servant for a wicked woman; I have been praying here out of my great anguish and grief."

Before we judge people – we need to hear their stories and their experiences.

Conversation 3 – Joseph in Genesis 37 – had a dream, shared with brothers and parents. From that dream was a call to journey with God – experienced rejection from brothers, a lying spirit from Potiphar’s wife, forgotten by the jailed man whom he had helped and finally the call came to pass.

Finding Joseph in Prison or in exile did not mean that Joseph was the cause of problems.

Conversation 4 – Lydia in Acts 16 – a business dealer going about her business – God called her to show that there was much more to her business – to Partner with Paul I Mission.

Partnership starts with a defined call that challenges our perspectives, experiences and bring us into a space only God has defined for us.

Commissioning

- Commissioning is the act of formally assigning or authorizing someone to a particular role, duty, or mission.
- It typically includes a ceremonial or official process in which the person is empowered to act on behalf of an organization, authority, or cause.
- Not only is God calling us into partnership (inviting us in - to join him in his mission), but he is also commissioning us – assigning and authorizing us for Mission
- To be commissioned in the context of ministry is to be sent out with a purpose or mission.

Paul’s letter to the Corinthians 5:17-21

Therefore, if anyone is in Christ, the new creation has come:^[a] The old has gone, the new is here! ¹⁸ All this is from God, who reconciled us to himself through Christ and gave us the ministry of reconciliation: ¹⁹ that God was reconciling the world to himself in Christ, not counting people’s sins against them. And he has committed to us the message of reconciliation. ²⁰ We are therefore Christ’s ambassadors, as though God were making his appeal through us. We implore you on Christ’s behalf: Be reconciled to God. ²¹ God made him who had no sin to be sin^[b] for us, so that in him we might become the righteousness of God.

- This Commissioning is like the work of an ambassador
- An ambassador is an official representative of one country to another, typically appointed by the government or head of state.
- The work of an ambassador involves diplomacy, representation, negotiation, and the protection of national interests abroad. Here's a breakdown of their key responsibilities.
- Partners in Mission are Ambassadors – representatives of God in the mission field.
- We are ambassadors in the workplace, in our communities, in our homes.
- Ambassadors worry about the brand of their country – they make sure that they act on any misrepresentation.
- They protect the interests of their home country, and they represent their own country.
- Ambassadors have a message – they are clear about the message and not confused.

Jesus was very clear about his mission

He went to Nazareth, where he had been brought up, and on the Sabbath day he went into the synagogue, as was his custom. He stood up to read, ¹⁷ and the scroll of the prophet Isaiah was handed to him. Unrolling it, he found the place where it is written:

*¹⁸ "The Spirit of the Lord is on me, because he has anointed me to proclaim good news to the poor.
He has sent me to proclaim freedom for the prisoners and recovery of sight for the blind, to set the oppressed free, to proclaim the year of the Lord’s favor."*

²⁰ Then he rolled up the scroll, gave it back to the attendant and sat down. The eyes of everyone in the synagogue were fastened on him. ²¹ He began by saying to them, "Today this scripture is fulfilled in your hearing."

Commissioned

1. With a clear message – You are a Partner in Mission – whose mission? God's mission.
2. To reconcile people back to God – through the gospel, practical intervention.
3. To make a difference in the lives of people using our resources, skills, money, abilities and influence
4. To make the Presbyterian Church a shining light in the dark.
5. To Partner with God in his mission

I am a Partner in Mission, I am a PIM, ARE YOU?
